A PLOT FOR TAKING PARIS.

Plan of the Government Spies in the City—The Loyal National Guards to Seize the Strongholds of the Insurgents—A Simultaneous Attack from Versailles.

VERSAILLES, Tuesday Night.—To-night the blow is to be struck which the authorities hope will restore Paris to the lawful Government. The spies of that Government in Paris have arranged the following programme: Eighteen thousand loyal National Guards in Paris are organized. At a fixed hour 6,000 will attack the Hotel de Ville, 6,000 Belleville, and 6,000 Montmartre. At the same moment a grand attack on Porte Maillot will be made from Versailles, and an effort made to get possession. At St. Lazare Station large reserves will be ready. Gen. VINOY will take the supreme command of the coup de main. The authorities are sanguine of success. Soldiers and sailors are to form the leading attacking column. Twelve thousand men of the old Imperial Guard are ready to march at a moment's notice, and if unsuccessful, 12,000 more of the same guard will be ready in ten days. There are 80,000 men now at Versailles.

The Church of Notre Dame de Lorette has been sacked, placards of conciliation torn down.

This morning the insurgents unsuccessfully attempted to draw the Versailles troops into a trap at Asnieres.

AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

Firing Still Kept up Around Paris—The Versailles Troops Generally Successful—The Insurgents Extorting Money From the Church—The Archbishop Threatened with Death—Official Statements.

LONDON, April 11.—The forces of Versailles are completely masters of the situation at Neuilly, but spare the inhabitants as far as possible from bombardment. The fire of Fort Mont Valerien is consequently very slow. There was sharp musketry firing yesterday, in the Bois de Boulogne.

A manifesto of the "League for the Defence of the Rights of Paris" demands Communal liberties, and that Paris shall be guarded by the National Guards only.

The Soir announces the death of the Abbe DUTVERY, from congestion of the brain.

The village of Chatillon is occupied by 12,000 insurgents, who have made a sortie against the plateau, in which they were repulsed. The reported arrest of M. DELESCLUZE is contradicted. The insurgents are said to have made a demand upon the Church for 1,000,000 francs, and avow that they will kill the Archbishop of Paris if it is not paid.

M. FAVRE in a speech to the National Assembly, said that all the Powers had expressed their sympathies with the Government of Versailles as the only legitimate Government of France. He also stated that the German Administrator in France, Gen. FABRICK, had declined the overtures made to him by the Commune, which he believed must shortly succumb to the power of the Government. The insurgents have taken away the plate from the Foreign Office in Paris.

An announcement was made in the Assembly by one of the members of the Government confirmatory of previous statements as to the general re-establishment of order in the country; and it was added, in regard to Paris, that the Government had the most implicit reliance upon the courage and constancy of the army.

M. THIERS has issued a circular to Prefects, for the information of the people of France, in which he says: "The status of Paris is unaltered, the insurgents have returned to Asnieres. Our troops have fortified the bridge at Neuilly; their conduct has been admirable; there has been an attempt at insurrection in Toulouse, but it has been suppressed. The disarmament of the Nationals at Marseilles proceeds. Outside of the Capital all is tranquillity. The Government is satisfied that the citizens have given it their confidence."

A dispatch from Versailles, 10th, says: "Yesterday Forts Vanvres and Issy were shelled. The insurgents at Chatillon twice attacked our troops and were repulsed. The funeral of the Generals killed in the battle of Neuilly took place today, and was attended by immense crowds of the people. The official journal guardedly denies that the National Assembly is in favor of a Kingdom as the Government of France, but says pointedly that Napoleonism and Communism must perish."

Cutting off Communication with Paris—Position of Forces—Measures of Conciliation to be Proposed.

PARIS, April 11.—The Communal authorities have redoubled their precautions against the departure of persons from the city without passports. DOMBROWSKI reports the complete occupation of Asnieres by the Nationals, and the effective operation of the iron-clad cars on the Versailles and St. Germain Railway.

Affairs at the Porte Maillot have improved for the Nationals, who repaired during the night the damages caused by the cannonade in the day. They have also erected additional batteries, and otherwise strengthened the defenses around the gate.

It is said that Herr VON FABRICI has informed the Government at Versailles that the Paris Commune has notified him of its determination to stop traffic on the Northern Railway. Gen. L'ADMIRAULT commands the forces around Mont Valerien, and Gen. CISSEY those on the plain of Chatillon.

PARIS, April 11, via LONDON—Midnight.—The cannonade and musketry firing was renewed this morning at Porte Maillot, Neuilly, the Porte des Ternes, and in the Bois de Boulogne.

A deputation have gone to Versailles for the purpose of proposing measures of conciliation. They are instructed to insist on the maintenance of the Republic and the continuance of municipal franchises, and to demand that the Nationals shall alone guard Paris; and, if THIERS rejects these terms, to inquire what conditions the Versailles Government has to propose.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS.

England Urging Germany to Restore Order at Paris—French Prisoners in Switzerland—Official Changes in Hesse—Cable Communication with the East.

BERLIN, April 11.—The Prussian Cross-Gazette says the British Government is endeavoring to persuade Germany to intervene for the restoration of order in Paris.

BERNE, April 11.—The total number of French soldiers sent home from Switzerland is 84,634.

DARMSTADT, April 11.—Baron DALWIGK VON LICHTENFELS, President of the Ministry and Minister of Foreign Affairs, has resigned, and is succeeded by Baron VON LINDELLOF, late Minister of Justice.

LONDON, April 11.—The repair of the Singapore and Batavia cable has been effected. Messages for Java and Sumatra can now be forwarded by wire direct.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAM-SHIP CITY OF PARIS.

The Inman steam-ship City of Paris, which left Liverpool March 30, and Queenstown March 31, reached this port last evening. Her advices are fresher, by three days, than those at hand by the Weser, on Monday.

THE PORTE.

Good Effect of the Results of the Conference—The Situation and Prospects.

Constantinople (March 18) Correspondence London Echo.

The result of the deliberations of the Conference has been received with a general feeling of relief; for although the main point at issue was known to have been virtually settled some weeks ago, still apprehensions existed that some contingent question might crop up, that some difficulty as to the details of the treaty might arise, which, if it did not actually lead to war, would maintain yet longer the state of disquiet in which wars and rumors of wars have held this country for eight months past, to the great detriment of its commerce and finances. Turkey, does not, it is true, reap any very substantial benefit from the treaty, yet the future dangers to which it exposes her are remote and less vital than the peril of present war would have been with an empty exchequer and allies only half-hearted in her cause. But the incident, which the treaty culminates, has not been without moral advantage to this country and Government; it has thoroughly justified the outlay of an iron-clad fleet, for which the Porte has often been severely criticised in financial circles at home; and it has also shown that the Turks know how to make the best of their position; that they possess political wisdom and foresight, and can play the only card in their hands, which in this case was their naval strength, to the best possible advantage. This ability on their part has staved off war when Western Europe was craving for peace, and England should not be backward in recognising, by increased consideration and confidence, the statesmanlike qualities which have preserved peace without any sacrifice of national dignity.

DEATH RECORD.

Dr. Schultzenstein, Botanist — Baron Dudevant—Mme. Bonaparte Wyse.

DR. KARL HEINRICH SCHULTZ-SCHULTZENSTEIN, of Berlin, one of the most eminent botanists in Germany, was found dead in his bed on the morning of the 23d. He had been engaged at his desk until past midnight. The deceased, though in his seventy-third year, was remarkably active, and was a lecturer on physiology as well as on botany in the University of Berlin with which he had been connected since 1822.... Baron DUDEVANT, the husband of Mme. GEORGE SAND, died at Barbaste, in the department of Lot-et-Garonne, on the 8th of last month. He was seventy-six years old.... The decease of Mme. LETITIA BONAPARTE-WYSE is announced as having recently happened at Florence. She had passed her seventieth year, but though she appeared lately much broken in health, her death at the last was in a great measure unexpected. She was the widow of Sir THOMAS WYSE, of St. John's, Waterford, many years member of Parliament for that city, and afterward Her Majesty's Envoy at the Court of Athens. She has left issue two sons, and also two daughters, both married.... M. FETIS, the well-known writer on music, and director of the Brussels Conservatory, died in Brussels on March 26.

The First Thunder-Storm of the Season.

Another very sudden change in the weather was precipitated upon us yesterday morning. The temperature rapidly altered from sultry heat to a large degree of coolness. At about 4 o'clock the thermometer stood at 53. At 7 A. M. it was at 55°. The sunshine seemed to have but little influence on the cold, which continued, with disagreeable gusts of street refuse-tinctured wind, until sundown. At about 8 o'clock, the clouds lowered with dark portents of rain and almost incessant flashes of lightning. At 8½ a heavy shower of rain fell, accompanied by the roar and rumble of thunder, for the first time this season. This continued, with three intermissions, until 10 o'clock, when it ceased as suddenly as it commenced, leaving dark and gloomy clouds, with uncertain winds, to indicate what shall yet follow. From noon until 11 P. M. the thermometer ranged from 57° to 52°.

Sentence of Pickpockets at the Tombs.

In addition to the usual assortment of culprits that were arraigned before Justices DOWLING and SHANDLEY, in the Court of Special Sessions, yesterday, was a procession of fifteen pickpockets, who were detected in the very act of pilfering the valuables of spectators along the route of the great German ovation of Monday. The following were sentenced to six months each in the Penitentiary: Henry Burns, Conrad Lambley, John Ferris, George Callaghan, John Smith, John Metson, Henry Johnson and Charles Hope. Seven others were remanded. The majority were instantly recognized by the Court as old offenders. A much greater number of professionals escaped arrest. A thriving business was done on that day by the thieves, and complaints of losses are numerous.

The New-York Presbytery—Election of Officers and Delegates.

The second day's session of the New-York Presbytery was held yesterday in the University-place Presbyterian Church. The following officers were elected: Rev. Mr. Aikman, of the Spring-street Church, Moderator; Geo. S. Chambers, Clerk; Rev. Dr. S. Alexander, Stated Clerk; Rev. Dr. Spaulding, Permanent Clerk; Elder Belknap, Treasurer; Rev. Drs. Hastings, Booth, Sutphen, Smith and others, occupied the pulpit. A very large number of clergymen answered to the roll call. The report of the Church Extension Committee was presented and adopted. A lengthy, animated, and rather tedious discussion ensued between Rev. Drs. HALL, ROWELL, HOPPER, WILSON and HASTINGS.

The following delegates to the General Assembly, to be held at Chicago in May, were elected: Primary Delegates—Revs. H. B. Smith, Wm. Aikman, Dr. John Hall, Rev. M. C. Sutphen and G. L. Prentiss. Alternates—Revs. W. W. Page, J. B. Wilson, D. W. Hitchcock, Dr. Alexander and Dr. Chas. H. Dayson.

Several reports were then presented, showing that the churches embraced by the Presbytery were in a prosperous condition; that the membership had increased, and that Sabbath-schools were largely attended.

Brief addresses on the work to be accomplished by the Presbytery were then made by Dr. BOOTH, Dr. HASTINGS, and other gentlemen.

The session then adjourned until this morning at 9 o'clock.

The New-York Ninth—Fatal Railroad Accident—Probable Murder and Suicide.

BOSTON, April 11.—A communication from Col. JAMES FISK to Mayor GASTON, requesting the hospitalities of the city to the Ninth New-York Regiment on its proposed visit to Boston, in June next, was presented to the Board of Aldermen last evening, and laid on the table.... The body of the woman found on the Ferry Beach at Saco, is identified as that of MARY MCCARTHY, of Boston. HENRY F. JOY, of Saco, was with her when last seen, and it is thought that he committed suicide, or else murdered her. JOY left a package containing $575 at his wife's door, with directions to get his trunk at the Biddeford depot, which contained a letter confessing adultery and intent of self-murder.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 11.—WILLIAM HARRISON, aged thirty-five, a resident of Central Falls, R. I., was fatally injured by a freight train on the Hartford Road, near Sterling, Conn., on Saturday night.

Boston Criminal News—The French Fair.

BOSTON, April 11.—The Grand Jury of the United States District Court has indicted ELERY C. DANIELL, late Cashier of the Webster National Bank, for embezzling $46,000 from that institution. Also, HENRY W. PITMAN, for embezzling $5,000 from the North National Bank, of which he was Cashier. The Police have arrested JOHN HAYES, WM. O'BRIEN, and MICHAEL SWAN, charged with recent extensive robberies in Boston and vicinity, and recovered a large amount of stolen property from them.

The Fair in aid of the destitute in France was opened to-night in the Boston Theatre—the parquet having been floored over and other alterations made which admirably fit it for the purpose. The ladies of Boston and vicinity have devoted much labor and expense in the preparation, and the opening attendance promises a good success. GILLMORE'S full band added to the attractions this evening. Commander RICARD has reported himself at the Portsmouth Navy-yard today to take command of the Vandalia.

THE SOUTH.

A Horse-Thief and Murderer Lynched in Virginia.

STAUNTON, Va., April 11.—THOMAS HODGES, the noted desperado, horse-thief and murderer, who shot and fatally wounded WHITLOCK on Friday night last, was taken from the jail in this place about 1 o'clock this morning, by a mob, and hanged at a place about one and a half miles from town. The jailor and Ex-Sheriff MCCUTCHEN were both in the jail, and refused to surrender the keys to the mob, whereupon they broke open the doors and took HODGES out. None of the men who entered the jail were disguised, but they were strangers to the officers and not recognized. HODGES had shot and killed four men in this locality before he shot WHITLOCK. This is the first act of lynching that has ever occurred in this community, and it is universally condemned.

Legislative Matters in Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11.—A special dispatch to the Avalanche, from Jackson, Miss., to-night, says: "A warm discussion took place in the House today, on an amendment to the new Code declaring that any person on any public conveyance, railroad, steamboat or stage, who shall or attempt to assign any passengers to any particular car or particular steamboat or stage, shall be fined $2,000 and imprisoned not less than one month or more than six. The amendment was formally adopted. The Governor recommends to the Legislature to memorialize Congress to refund the cotton tax of 1865 and 1866. Lieut.-Gov. POWERS assumed the duties of Governor today. ALCORN will be absent for some time at New-York for the organization of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company.

Grant Club of the Twelfth Assembly District.

A meeting of the Twelfth Assembly District Grant Club was held last evening at their rooms in Avenue D. JAMES DUNCAN in the chair. After the meeting had been called to order, the Chairman said that the present was the proper time to make some definite plans for the future. The key-note had been struck in Washington last Saturday by Senator MORTON, and he thought that the sound should re-echo throughout the country. Indeed, he did not know but that to this fact might be traced the sudden change that had taken place in counting the Connecticut vote. Mr. J. ARCHIBALD then offered the following resolutions:

Whereas, The position of the Republican Party of the City and County of New-York for some months past has been such that in the judgment of a large number of Republicans, it has become necessary to reorganize in the City; and,

Whereas, Pending the action of the State Central Committee ordering such organization, it was deemed expedient to form a Grant Campaign Club in each Assembly District in the City of New-York; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the Republicans of the Twelfth Assembly District, do recognize the Grant Campaign Club, of which JAMES DUNCAN is President, as the only regular Republican organization now in the district, and cordially invite all Republicans and good citizens favorable to the re-election of Gen. GRANT to come and act with us.

The resolution was agreed to by an almost unanimous vote.

Col. DUGANNE was then introduced, who made a brief speech, reviewing the policy and actions of the Administration, which he pronounced to be guided by right motives, and to have attained the greatest possible success. He, with many others, was ready to follow the lead of the same man that had led them through the war, and who now, while trying to extend the commerce of the United States by cutting a passage through the Isthmus of Darien, and by enlarging the boundary of our country, was at the same time holding the Kuklux of the South under rule, and saying: "Thus far shalt thou go, and no further." Mr. H. D. LAPAUGH made the closing address, in which he dwelt with much force on the fact that that the "carpet-baggers" were entirely constitutional in what they did, and holding as his own and as the opinion of all true Republicans at the North, that the Kuklux disorders should be wholly suppressed. Among the gentlemen present were Messrs. JAMES E. TAYLOR, A. B. SAGE and R. W. STEELE.

Election Riot in Paterson, N. J., Yesterday.

The election in Paterson, which occurred on Monday, an account of which was published in these columns yesterday, was quietly conducted, except in one ward—the Eighth—where a slight disturbance was created during the afternoon. Early yesterday morning, however, the excitement caused by the close rivalry of the parties broke out in a fierce riot. While the votes were being counted, at about 3 A. M., a party of roughs attacked the inspectors, smashed the ballot-boxes and scattered the votes in all directions. The raid was made evidently for the sole purpose of destroying the count, for no person was injured in the disturbance. The rioters escaped, but their names have, in part, been obtained, and they will be arrested.

With this ward thrown out, the Republicans elect their Mayor and control the Boards of Aldermen, Freeholders and Education.

The Democrats charge that the disturbers were set on by the Republicans, the Eighth Ward having been hitherto Democratic. It is asserted by the Democrats that the result in this ward would have made a tie in the Board of Aldermen, and would have elected a Democratic Mayor. They demand a special election. Great excitement prevails in the City.

Tammany Agents Sent to the South.

Large sums of money have been offered to colored men in this City to go South, for the purpose of influencing the colored vote at the South in the approaching Presidential election. It is a well established fact that thousands of dollars have been offered by the Tammany men to colored Republicans who would enlist for this purpose, and that JAMES FRISBIE, of this City, has gone on this mission to Huntsville, Ala., there to work among the colored people in the Democratic interest. He received $900 in hand in part payment for his services, which it may be said have been estimated far beyond their value, as it is safe to say that few colored men can be induced to swerve from their allegiance to the party of freedom.

THE STATE CAPITAL.

Final Conclusion of the Weed-Irving Difficulty.

The Investigating Committee's Report Unanimously Adopted—Probable Abandonment of the Two Per Cent. Tax Levy—A Decided Blow at the Ring—Miscellaneous Matters.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ALBANY, April 11.—The report of the Investigating Committee on the Weed-Irving row, was presented to-night, and unanimously accepted without debate. It would have been accompanied by a resolution of expulsion had not IRVING put himself out of the jurisdiction of the House by resigning. The interruption of business caused by this affair will probably delay the final adjournment of the Legislature till the middle of next week. The talk now is that the Ring will abandon their two per cent. Tax Levy bill and bring forward one of their old-fashioned budgets, filled to the brim with jobs and stealings. It is believed by many, and was so intimated in these dispatches a month ago, that this was their intention from the start, and that SANDS' two per cent. fraud was only used to delay action till the closing hours of the Legislature. The Supply bill was reported this evening, and will be considered in special session to-morrow afternoon. The total amount of the appropriations is $1,000,000 less than last year's bill. The reduction being in the items for the payment of back interest in coin on State bonds and the diminished appropriation for the State Capitol. Albany County elected a Republican Board of Supervisors today for the first time in several years. Another three months' sessions of the Ring Legislature here would drive every decent Democrat into the Republican ranks.

The Weed-Irving Investigation—Feeling of the Country Democracy—Determination to no Longer Submit to the Bullying of the "Ring"—A New Democratic Leader—The Capital Commission—A Change in the Programme—The Canal Claims—A Door Opened for Fraud.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Tuesday, April 11, 1871.

The Weed-Irving row still absorbs the attention of the Lower House of the Legislature, and stops the transaction of any further business until the Investigating Committee makes its report. An attempt was made at the opening of the Assembly this morning to proceed with the regular business of the House, and leave the Investigating Committee to report at their leisure, but it was voted down by a large majority, and the House adjourned to this evening, when the Committee hope to be able to make their report. There are a large number of members who will not be satisfied with anything short of a formal expulsion of IRVING, notwithstanding his resignation, but the probability is that the Committee will simply give a statement of the facts regarding the disturbance as found by the evidence taken before them, and accompany it by a censure of the guilty party and a full vindication of the innocent. The effort made by TOM FIELDS last evening, to get the House to drop all further investigation of the affair after the resignation of IRVING, signally failed. The occurrence has aroused the slumbering wrath of what the World contemptuously dubbed the "hay-loft and cheese-press Democracy," and they are now nearly unanimous and outspoken in their determination to submit no longer to the bullying domination of the City Democracy as misrepresented by the corrupt Tammany Ring. If the "Young Democracy," or any other Democracy not comprehended in the two words TWEED and SWEENY, were to present a charter for the City of New-York here now, they would find no difficulty in getting it through the Assembly, in spite of the Ring's money. TWEED has so often boasted of his ability to buy up the "hay-loft and cheese-press" rabble whenever he wanted them, that he has at last forced them to stand on their dignity and self-respect. Unless the signs of the times are greatly at fault, the power of the Tammany Ring to control the Democratic Party of this State ceases from this time henceforth. SMITH M. WEED has been placed by accident, as it were, in a position where he can become the leader of the regenerated Democracy of the State. He is well fitted for such a position, being an educated man, a good speaker, a man of sufficient wealth to be beyond the ordinary temptations of political thieves, and a man of indomitable perseverance, courage and persistency. The Tammany Ring never made a greater mistake than when they undertook to snub such a man at the outset of the session by giving him secondary positions on unimportant committees. He has been a thorn in their side since the beginning of the session, and he will be a worse thorn before another Gubernatorial election comes round.

A CHANGE IN THE CAPITOL COMMISSION.

It has been decided to change the Commission for building the new Capitol, which was created by the Legislature of 1868, and consisted of four Republicans and four Democrats. The Democrats, being in the majority in this Legislature, had made up their minds to change the Commission so as to give them a majority in the Board, and their original plan was to take five of the Commissioners and give the Republicans three. The Tammany Republicans, who have been hanging around the Legislature in full force all Winter, picking up whatever crumbs might chance to drop from TWEED and SWEENY'S table, had contracted with the Ring to go for the change in the Commission, provided the three Republicans should be all Fenton men. This, of course, was acceded to by the Ring. The resignation of IRVING, however, has necessitated a change in the programme. The Democracy has no longer the power to change the Commission without the consent of at least one Republican. The way they propose to do it is by a clause in the Supply bill, which would require sixty-five votes for its passage—the same as any other law—and the Democrats are now left with only sixty-four. Under these circumstances it would naturally be supposed that the Republicans would stand together in a body and present any change in the Commission, since the Democrats had made it a party measure and attempted to get control of the Commission. But the Tammany Republicans before mentioned are so anxious to get their own man on the Commission that they are ready to waive what little party feeling they may have, and make a trade, after their usual manner, with the Ring. It would not do to give the Democracy a majority on the Commission, since they could no longer demand it by virtue of having the power to take it, and so the Fenton Republicans have cooked up an agreement by which the Commission is to be reduced to six members, each party taking three. The only members of the old Commission that are to be retained in the new are HAMILTON HARRIS, on the Republican side, and WM. A. RICE, on the Democratic side. The new men are CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW and Gen. MERRITT, (late Naval Officer at the Port of New-York,) Republicans, and WM. C. KINGSLEY and DELOS DE WOLFE, Democrats. HAMILTON HARRIS, the old Republican Commissioner, who is retained, was the legal and confidential adviser of REUBEN E. FENTON when he was Governor, and was the go-between in the suspicious transaction between the Erie Ring and Gov. FENTON, whereby the Governor's signature was obtained to a bill that Erie had engineered through the Legislature. Those who are curious to know the particulars of this transaction will find them in the report of the Senate Investigating Committee, of which the incorruptible MATTHEW HALE was Chairman, and which was presented to the Senate at the session of 1869. It is fit and proper that "Ham" HARRIS should head the FENTON or Tammany Republican representation in the new Commission. Mr. DEPEW and Gen. MERRITT are unobjectionable men, but no better than the Republicans who are to be removed to give them places, except that they are adherents of FENTON. If they consulted the interests and harmony of the party to which they profess to belong they would oppose any change in the Commission and refuse to be the beneficiaries of a dicker with Tammany Hall. When that infamous political organization is tottering to its fall, it is no time for Republicans who care for their future reputation to be seen striking corrupt bargains with. This year's appropriation for the new Capitol is to be limited to $250,000 in the Supply bill, but an effort will be made to increase it in the House to $500,000.

It is rumored that there have already been selected by the Ways and Means Committee, for positions upon the new Capitol Commission, WM. A. RICE, of Albany, who now holds the position, W. L. KINSLEY, of Brooklyn, and DELOS DE WOLF, Democrats; HAMILTON HARRIS, the present Chairman, CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW and E. M. MERRITT, Republicans. The Committee have measurably reduced the appropriation, making it two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This will probably be increased on the conference.

THE RAILROAD COMMITTEE.

Speaker HITCHMAN has appointed RICHARD FLANAGAN, of New-York, to take the place of JAMES IRVING on the Railroad Committee. Mr. FLANAGAN is a quiet, gentlemanly man, and perhaps the most popular of the entire New-York delegation. This is his second year in the Assembly.

CANAL APPRAISERS' BILL.

When the Legislature met there was one evil that it was deemed an absolute necessity to abolish, and that was to restrict the power of the Board of Canal Appraisers, appointed to new jurisdiction by the Legislature of 1870. To eliminate the danger of utterly exhausting the Treasury by claims extending over the whole term of the existence of the canal system of the State, it was heralded that a bill would be passed to limit such claims to a period of six years preceding the time of their presentation. The Democracy, as is their custom, heralded this intention over the State, and went into joyful anticipations of a virtuous future. The bill was introduced and went through the Assembly, there was opposition, but the first blush of their new-born honesty had not given away, and they were true to their promise. The bill reached the Senate. What was now to be done? The Canal Appraisers had recovered from their first surprise, their friends labored to prevent the reform which was pouring streams of money out of the public Treasury and gilding the pockets of the happy officials who held the offices of Appraiser, and who beheld the whole line of the canals the tributary attendants upon their wants. The Senate Committee considered the bill, and hesitated what to do, but public pressure was strong, and it was reported. Last night it came up before the Committee of the Whole. What was best to do? Pass it as it came from the Assembly, and try for one year more a system modified and restricted? No; that would give benefit to nobody. What then? Why, so amend it that it would abolish the Board of Appraisers, and then let it die in the Assembly by the efforts of the friends of the Board who would be bound to labor against it, when the very life of the officials was threatened. Amendments were, therefore, in order, and the bill was so amended that it abolishes the Board of Canal Appraisers. This morning it came up for final passage and received four votes. This was reconsidered and the bill may pass the Senate, but it has no chance in the House. This ends this virtuous cry of canal reform, and we may be assured that the system will remain in force, and that the State will be saddled in the next year, or it has in the past one, with claims nearly eight times greater than under the very bad system of claims before the Legislature, it ever was before. A new feature of this system is the introduction of bills to pay fees of attorneys who have been employed to assist the State Attorney in protecting the Treasury. One bill calls for $17,500, and it is understood that this is but one of many similar claims.

Never before has the whole amount of such charge, reached $5,000. Under the new toll system the revenue of the canal have fallen from nearly $4,000,000 per year to less than $600,000. The repairs have advanced in the same time almost $1,000,000. The audited claims have progressed almost an equal amount, and the Attorney's fees of the State are many hundred per cent. in advance of any preceding year. This is a good show for the people, one that they will do wisely to remember. S.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE....ALBANY, Tuesday, April 11.

BILLS PASSED.

The following bills pertaining to New-York and Brooklyn were passed:

To extend the time for the organization of the New-York Loan and Indemnity Company; to incorporate the Kings County Water Works Company; to incorporate the Hill Association; to improve the eastern portions of the Ninth and Twenty-first Wards, Brooklyn; to incorporate the Excelsior Safe Deposit Company of New-York; to amend the charter of the Central Park Savings Bank of New-York; to amend the charter of the American Missionary Association; to amend the act relative to buildings in the City of New-York; to provide for the extension of the Rondout and Oswego Railroad to the east bank of the Hudson River and to establish a ferry at that river; relative to the fire-alarm telegraph in New-York City; incorporating the National Improvement Company of New-York; to incorporate the New-York Free Medical College for Women; to incorporate the St. Patrick's Hall Association of New-York; to authorize a ferry across the Hudson River at Cornwall; to prevent frauds on the part of auctioneers, New-York and Brooklyn; to regulate the crossing of highways by the Spuyten Duyvil and Port Morris Railroad Company.

THE NEW-HAMBURG DISASTER.

Mr. WOOD moved to instruct the Railroad Committee to report on the New-Hamburg Railroad disaster.

Mr. GENET said the Committee would report to-morrow if possible. They had hoped to report today, and probably would have done so but for the trouble in the House.

Mr. WOOD withdrew his motion.

GENERAL ORDERS.

The following bills were ordered to a third reading:

Incorporating the North River Bridge Company.

To build a bridge at Troy.

Recess to 7 P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

GENERAL ORDERS.

The following bills were ordered to a third reading:

To improve the tributaries to the Great South Bay; to enable the City of Troy to fund its floating debt; providing for better railroad accommodations in Westchester County; relative to the competency of jurors in civil and criminal cases; relative to the support of the poor of Rensselaer County; to incorporate the Long Island City and Calvary Cemetery Railroad Company.

Adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.

THE WEED-IRVING DIFFICULTY.

Mr. FIELDS rose to a question of privilege, and stated that the Committee appointed to investigate the Weed-Irving case was not ready to report.

Some debate ensued as to reconsidering the resolution of the House last night to hold no session until the Committee was ready to report.

Mr. ALVORD and Mr. LITTLEJOHN argued that the members could not discharge their duties both in the House and Committee-room.

Mr. FIELDS thought that, as the testimony was all in, the report could be written and the members could remain in the House, thus permitting legislation to proceed.

Mr. D. BURNS expressed the same opinion, and moved a reconsideration of the resolution of last night to adjourn till this evening in the event that the Committee was not ready to report this morning.

The motion was lost by 34 to 77, and the Speaker adjourned the House till this evening.

EVENING SESSION.

THE IRVING DIFFICULTY.

Mr. FIELDS, from the Weed-Irving Investigating Committee, submitted a unanimous report, stating that the Committee had given the case a full investigation, and concluding as follows:

Mr. IRVING having resigned his seat as a member of the Assembly from the Sixteenth Assembly District of the County of New-York, and no one having appeared against Mr. WEED, your Committee feel that they have discharged their duty in reporting the testimony taken before the Committee to the House with the following resolution:

Resolved, That in the judgment of the House, the conduct of Mr. IRVING, late a member thereof from the Sixteenth Assembly District in the County of New-York, during its session on Friday evening, April 7, 1871, was a high breach of its privileges and the rights of its members, and if he, Mr. IRVING, had remained a member of this House, he would have deserved the severest punishment in its power to inflict.

Thos. C. Fields, Thos. G. Alvord, G. W. Nicholas, D. C. Littlejohn, Alex. Frear.

The question was taken on agreeing with the report, and it was unanimously agreed to—yeas 104, no nays.

THE INSURANCE LAW.

A communication was presented by the Speaker from the New-York Chamber of Commerce, remonstrating against the passage of the bill before the Legislature relative to insurance.

The bill to provide for the introduction of some mode for a more rapid transit on canals was passed.

BILLS KILLED.

The House went into Committee on the bill to repeal the Railroad Town Bonding law. This bill was killed.

The Senate resolution to amend the Constitution by providing for a Board of State Prison Managers was also killed.

LIGHT-HOUSES.

Mr. FIELDS introduced a bill to amend the act ceding lands to the United States for light-house purposes, and on his motion it was passed.

Adjourned.

THE RECENT ELECTIONS.

Postponement of the Connecticut Official Canvass.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 11.—The Board of Canvassers met today and postponed the canvass for Governor, State officers, and members of Congress till the 21st. Unofficial certificates were issued to Congressmen elect STRONG, STARKWEATHER, and BARNUM, but owing to the close vote in the Second District none was given to Mr. KELLOGG. Mr. KENDRICK appeared by counsel, and claimed that the Board of Canvassers as the final judge of the election, and asked that the votes for him put into the wrong box in New-Haven and elsewhere be counted for him. The hearing of this question was postponed till the 22d inst.

Other Elections.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 11.—At the Charter election here today the Democrats elected their ticket by about the usual majority of from 1,800 to 2,000 votes. The Republicans have elected seven out of sixteen Supervisors in the city, with a prospect of securing a majority of one in the Board.

TROY, N. Y., April 11.—The Watervliet town election, yesterday, resulted in a Republican triumph by an average plurality of nearly 400. The town includes West Albany, West Troy and Green Island.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., April 11.—At the Charter election today ORIGEN STEERS, Democrat, was elected Mayor, and the entire Democratic city ticket was elected.

NEW-BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 11.—At the charter election in this city today, G. CONOVER, the Democratic candidate, was elected Mayor.

NEWARK, N. J., April 11.—The town elections took place in New-Jersey yesterday. In Essex County the Republicans elected twenty-six Freeholders, and the Democrats twelve. Morris County elected eighteen Republican and twelve Democratic Freeholders. Sussex and Warren Counties went Democratic. Morristown and Hacketstown elected the Democratic ticket. Somerset County went Republican for the first time in twenty years. Union County is divided. Trenton went Democratic. The vote in Paterson was very close.

Election in Jersey City—Astonishing Republican Successes—Ten Out of Twelve Republican Aldermen.

The election for city officers under the new charter was held yesterday, and passed off, with few exceptions, in a quiet and orderly manner. The result was a decided Republican victory, which was almost entirely unexpected by leading politicians of both parties. The Irishmen claim that they have the secret, and that the neglect of the Irish element in the make-up of the Democratic tickets—which bore no Irish names—did the business for the party. Last year the Board of Aldermen stood two-thirds Democratic; by this election it is changed to five-sixths Republican—ten out of twelve members being elected by the Republicans. By the new charter the Aldermanic Districts are reduced from sixteen to six, and five of these gave Republican majorities.

The following figures show the totals in all the districts that had been fully reported at Police Head-quarters at midnight:

FIRST DISTRICT.

Bumsted, Rep.	883	Negus, Dem.	802
Farrier, Rep.	905	Van Saun, Dem.	800

The Democrats elect their Aldermen and Freeholders in the Second District.

THIRD DISTRICT.

Stier, Rep.	798	Garrison, Dem.	641
Savage, Rep.	1,052	Gaddis, Dem.	638

In the Fourth District EDWARDS and STEINKEN, Republican candidates, are elected.

FIFTH DISTRICT.

Holden, Rep.	472	Young, Dem.	424
Wandle, Rep.	471	Hauver, Dem.	350

SIXTH DISTRICT.

Mandeville, Rep.	492	Clark, Dem.	422
Smith, Rep.	577	Culver, Dem.	422

The Board of Freeholders will stand 28 Republicans to 12 Democrats.

New-Brunswick Charter Election.

At the New-Brunswick charter election, yesterday, GARRETT CONOVER, the Democratic candidate for Mayor, was elected by 54 majority. In four wards Republican Aldermen were elected, only two Democrats being successful. Four Chosen Freeholders out of six were also elected by the Republicans. A tie occurs in the Middlesex County Board of Freeholders, thirteen members having been elected by each party.

Essex Township Elections—Republican Successes.

The Essex County township elections resulted in Republican victories in most of the towns. The Board of Chosen Freeholders will stand 26 Republicans to 10 Democrats. Last year the Board was 22 to 16. There are this year thirty-six members only, the township of Woodside having been swallowed up by Newark and Belleville. Compared with last year, the Republicans have gained five members in Newark, one in Orange, one in Montclair, and have lost one in Milburn.

Result of the Charter Election in Trenton.

The result of the Charter election at Trenton gives the Democrats a Mayor, (JOHN BRIEST,) Receiver of Taxes, (ROBERT S. WOODRUFF,) and School Superintendent, (Dr. SHEPHERD.) They are sure of four out of the five Democratic Freeholders from the city, which, together with those from the townships of Hamilton, Lawrence and Ewing, will give them a majority in the Board. At present the political complexion of the Common Council is doubtful, as the result of the voting had not been announced last evening.

The Election in Hoboken.

The returns from the various wards up to 1 o'clock this morning were very meagre, and indicated a decidedly close contest for the Mayoralty. KIMBALL (Dem.) will probably be elected by a small majority. Judge BOHNSTEDT (Dem.) is elected Recorder, FREDERICK A. ROWALD (Rep.) City Clerk, and MURPHY (Dem.) Water Register.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 11.—A number of gentlemen of the Washington Press were entertained to-night at Eldon Hall by their brethren of Baltimore. Speeches were made by M. W. BARR, of Washington, Agent of the Southern Associated Press; W. P. PRESTON, C. W. TAYLEURE and others.

COAL SUSPENSION.

No Attempt at Resumption at the Scranton Mines.

Affairs in the Coal Region Quiet But Uncertain.

ANOTHER RIOTOUS OUTRAGE.

Prompt Arrest of the Brutal Assailants.

The Conference Barren of Results So Far.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

SCRANTON, Penn., April 11.—HILL & FELLOWS' Church Mine did not attempt to resume work today, and consequently there was no general disturbance. One of the delegation of miners, DANIEL OWENS, while returning home after the meeting, at 3 o'clock this morning, was set upon by two miners who were dissatisfied with his action in the meeting, and he was horribly and dangerously beaten. His nose was broken and pounded to a jelly, and had it not been for the interference of outsiders who heard his shrieks for help, he thinks very naturally that he would have been killed. Warrants were at once issued for the arrest of nine of the rioters, but only three were arrested, named BROOKS, GALLAGHER and MORGAN. BROOKS was held to bail in the sum of $5,000, and GALLAGHER and MORGAN $2,000. Six leaders of the Miners' Union promptly went their bail.

The meeting between the miners and the operators adjourned, this afternoon, without arriving at any conclusion. The miners will not accept the terms dictated by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company, and the Company does not propose to offer any other terms, so the matter is a complete hitch as it stands. The representatives of the Company have nearly all returned to their homes, and a general feeling of gloom and despondency has settled upon the community.

A Meeting of the Miners at Mauch Chunk.

POTTSVILLE, Penn., April 11.—Much interest is manifested in the meeting of miners at Mauch Chunk, to-night, when the subject of arbitration will be discussed. The prevailing opinion in well informed circles is, that they will reject any proposition looking to resumption by arbitration.

THE WEATHER.

Latest Official Observations and Prognostications.

WAR DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11, 1871—7:03 P. M.—The storm which was, Monday evening, in Illinois, has moved eastward, and is now over Lake Ontario and Central New-York. The barometer has fallen over the country south of the Ohio, and brisk south-west winds, with light rains are now reported at points on the South Atlantic. Brisk westerly winds have been experienced from Lake Michigan to Lake Ontario. A north-east storm was experienced last night on Lake Superior, where the winds are now fresh westerly. Fresh easterly winds, with light rains, have prevailed on the East Atlantic. Brisk southerly winds have prevailed on the Mid-Atlantic coast, with clear weather succeeding the clouds of last night.

PROBABILITIES.

It is probable that fresh winds from the south-west and north-west will prevail on Wednesday on the upper and lower lakes, with clearing-up weather; partially cloudy, with fresh winds, on the Gulf and South Atlantic; cloudy and falling weather in the Eastern States, followed by clearing-up weather on Wednesday night; a storm of some dimensions but short duration appears to threaten the country from West Virginia to Connecticut.

Meteorological Observations at Mount Washington.

SUMMIT OF MOUNT WASHINGTON, N. H., April 11.—Observations at 7 o'clock P. M.: Barometer, 29.72; change minus, 0.13; thermometer, 27°; change plus, 3°; relative humidity, 0.88. Wind, south-south-west; velocity, 48 miles per hour. The mountain has all day been enveloped in clouds. We have had sleet and rain, and then beautiful frost-work, and now it is almost raining again.

Heavy Rains in Kansas.

LAWRENCE, Kansas, April 11.—Heavy rains visited all portions of Kansas during the past few days. The prospects of the fruit and wheat crops were never better. Last night it was quite cold, and it was feared that the fruit crop would be injured, but it is now believed to be out of danger.

Severe Rain-Storm in Pennsylvania.

POTTSVILLE, Penn., April 11.—At 4½ o'clock this afternoon a rain-storm, the most severe ever known to have visited this place, set in, extending throughout the country, lasting half an hour. The streets were flooded and impassable for a time, the ground and stones were washed down on Centre-street at several points, making embankments several feet high. The most serious damage sustained was that of U. W. WOLF, tanner; loss, $3,000.

Heavy Wind Storms in the West With Rain.

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—A wind storm at Keokuk, Iowa, yesterday, blew the roofs off the Catholic Church and the wholesale dry-goods house of Messrs. IRWIN & PHILLIPS, and also burst the front of the First Baptist Church and demolished several out buildings. The heavy rain and wind storm near Milwaukee, did considerable damage to telegraph lines in this State and Minnesota yesterday, but they are being rapidly repaired and will be in working order soon.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Reports from Iowa show that Saturday's storm was much more severe than had been previously supposed. In Polk County alone the damage amounts to $50,000, and this devastation spread through a large portion of the State. Four inches of snow fell at St. Paul, Minn., yesterday.

A Negro Murdered by Two White Men.

ELMIRA, N. Y., April 11.—JOSEPH JOHNSON, colored, went into a store on Sunday night, and while there had some difficulty with two men named JOHN MANDEVILLE and JACOB CLARK. When JOHNSON left the store, MANDEVILLE and CLARK followed him, and the former beat JOHNSON on the head with a large club, from which injuries he expired at about 3½ o'clock P. M. on the following day. CLARK and MANDEVILLE, and, besides, two accomplices, were arrested.

The Filkins Robbery Imitated in the South.

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 11.—Last night, on the down train from Weldon, on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, a man who gave his name as DANIEL attempted to enter an express car with the supposed intention of robbery, when he was shot and dangerously wounded by a messenger named ARCHER. DANIEL was left at Goldsboro in care of physicians.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE WONDERS OF ENGRAVING. By GEORGE DUPLESSIS. New-York: CHARLES SCRIBNER & CO. 1871.

This volume is one of the series known as the "Illustrated Library of Wonders." The collection so named is by no means characterized by the extravagant color or flimsiness that some, from the title, might anticipate. Most of the books of the series that we have seen are, on the contrary, well stored with authenticated facts, set forth in no mean literary style. The one before us is a useful hand-book, treating of a subject familiar to few, and yet important to many. Engraving is peculiarly an art, the processes of which are almost of necessity only known to experts, but the results of which are constantly becoming interesting to greater numbers. The treatment of an art so closely associated with that of painting necessarily includes frequent reference to pictures and artists; and those at all acquainted with the latter will find not a little in this treatise about the heroes and products of the brush and palette mingled with like details about those of the graver and etching-needle. Such readers may thus find themselves treading a somewhat unfamiliar road in very well-known company. Mr. DUPLESSIS has packed his facts closely; and, which is even better, with so excellent a method—as regards dates and styles and progress—that the result is a book both pleasant to read and valuable for reference. The engravings are very good in their way, and give proper completeness to the volume.

FRANK FORRESTER'S HORSE AND HORSEMANSHIP OF THE UNITED STATES AND BRITISH PROVINCES OF NORTH AMERICA.

The recently-issued edition of this interesting work comes before us in a most agreeable form; it has been enlarged and continued down to the year 1871, by the Brothers S. D. & B. G. BRUCE, and then published by GEO. E. WOODWARD, of this City. To say that H. W. HERBERT, under his nom de plume of Frank Forrester, has given to the sporting world many useful works is only to repeat a well-known fact. In the opening chapter of the first volume of the present work we find an erudite account of the horse as Holy Writ and other ancient writings describe him, and a brief sketch of some of the highest art representations in sculpture attributed to PHIDIAS. In our opinion the author is somewhat hard on Italian horses when, in this same chapter, he says they are now nearly worthless. They are an inferior breed, but they are far from being valueless. We might instance those stately black stallions that a few months since formed so beautiful a portion of the gorgeous spectacles of the Romish Church, and also several distinct breeds of the Maremma horse. This latter, when bred with care, is short and powerful, enduring and docile; he is not beautiful, yet he makes a good, serviceable troop horse.

Mr. HERBERT'S second chapter describes the present aspect of the Anglo-Arabian; and every true lover of this most noble specimen of the equine family will read it with pleasure and profit. It is succinct and to the purpose. The various chapters on performances and produce of the most noted sire, both imported and native born, go fairly into the question of blood, and demonstrate clearly to the intelligent breeder the immense value of the desert cross, as also the absolute necessity of an authentic stud record. If, as Frank Forrester plainly shows, the British Isles possess the best clean bred horse of the present age, he is but just to American horsemen when he lauds the capabilities of the American roadster. Truly, under adverse circumstances of poor keep and injudicious stable management, American harness horses perform wonders. Were the present system changed, and a better one adopted, America might speedily boast a superb breed of harness horses: as it is they lack courage and beauty of form, and their grooms never do them justice. Gladly would we disagree on the subject of American horsemanship; but alas! the fact is too plain, that the running martingale is used in this country to steady the rider on his seat. Away on the open prairie Americans are horsemen, but in Central Park and such like localities, men on horseback are a sight to shudder at and to avoid. The second volume is devoted to remarks on the trotting horse of America, as also on hints to horsemen, and on the various methods of breaking young horses. This latter portion is of value to all, as it shows how to do that which, in this country, is rarely, if ever, well done. A fine mouthed saddle or harness horse is almost unknown here; one reason of which is that most people are heavy-handed when on the saddle or on the box. This they demonstrate by the manner in which they invariably grasp the reins in both hands and then throw all their weight on the horse's under jaw; this makes the animal heavy in hand and teaches him to bare. Mr. HERBERT'S work is well printed and handsomely illustrated. Some of the engravings are pleasing and truthful likenesses; especially so is the portrait of Glencoe. We regret to say, however, that Leamington's portrait is little short of a caricature of the noblest son of the unrivaled Faugh a Ballaugh. This is unaccountable to us, as from the pose of the portrait we recognize the original, a well-executed picture, now in the possession of R. W. CAMERON the importer of this superb Anglo-Irish horse. Taken in its entirety, this edition of Frank Forrester is valuable, and merits the patronage of the American public.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY. An Illustrated Magazine for the people. Vol. I. New-York: SCRIBNER & CO.

The first volume of Scribner's, in neat cloth covers and clean-cut edges, makes a very attractive and well-arranged miscellany. It forms a book that can be taken up in moods when the mind seeks to be amused, as well as when it craves instruction or is disposed to reflection. The list of authors comprises some of the names highest in our native literature, as well as others of European fame. There is matter in it for every age and taste, and the book contains nothing to offend the most fastidious, or to impair the moral and intellectual ideal of the most impressionable reader. May its successor be like unto it, or only different in attaining still higher excellence.

AMERICAN TROTTING REGISTER. By J. H. WALLACE.

In giving his Trotting Register to the world, Mr. WALLACE has conferred a true and lasting benefit on the admirers of the American trotting horse. In the introductory pages he has demonstrated to a certainty that the American trotter owes his origin to Sampson, an English race horse, yet a natural trotter. This horse was the sire of Engineer, the sire of Mambrino, the sire of Messenger. The latter horse was imported into this country, precise date not accurately established. His sister, Mambrina, was likewise imported to America, and both of these animals had the power of transmitting their trotting qualities to their offspring in a most decided manner. There are 3,000 pedigrees given in this register, and although the author does not assert that they are all entirely to be relied upon, yet they are of immense value, and are mostly drawn from facts. This work is handsomely got up, and ought to form a part of every sportsman's library.

THE WESTERN AND EASTERN QUESTIONS OF EUROPE. By ELIHU BURRITT. Hartford: HAMERSLEY & CO. 1871.

This little pamphlet contains a series of well-digested comments upon current topics of European history, reprinted from the columns of the TIMES and other journals. They are one and all of unquestioned originality and merit, and are distinguished by that fresh and vigorous Saxon style so uniformly characteristic of their author. The papers on Russia and her place in modern civilization are especially deserving of careful perusal.

THE MILLER OF ANGOBAULT, and THE SNOW MAN. By GEORGE SAND. Boston: ROBERTS BROTHERS. 1871.

The first of these volumes has been translated by MARY E. DEWEY, and the second by VIRGINIA VAUGHAN. The pellucid style of the author of Consuelo has been reproduced with sufficient fidelity to make them very charming reading, both on account of the merits of the narratives and the language in which they are told.

MONTE CRISTO and THE THREE GUARDSMEN. By ALEXANDER DUMAS. HARRY LORREQUER. By CHARLES LEVER. RIGHTS A-FOOT. By WILKIE COLLINS. Philadelphia: T. B. PETERSON & BROTHERS.

These volumes are the latest additions to the popular series of the works of standard novelists in course of publication by the great Philadelphia publishing house. They are clearly printed and well bound, and are issued at prices fitted to make them universally accessible.

THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURAL ANNUAL.

We have just received from ORANGE JUDD & Co. their American Agricultural Annual for 1871. Though somewhat late in making its appearance, it is welcome for the multifarious information it contains.

Messrs. HARPER & BROTHERS have just republished the Diary of the Besieged Resident in Paris, by HENRY LABOUCHERE, late M. P. for Middlesex. This diary attracted great attention when it first appeared in the London Daily News, and will now be found extremely well worth reading. There is a dry humor about Mr. LABOUCHERE'S letters, an originality of style, and a certain strongly marked individuality, which will cause them to be perused in their complete form with genuine interest. As a record of a memorable event in history, the book ought to find a place on everybody's shelves. But where did the publishers get the portrait of Mr. LABOUCHERE which adorns the cover? It is no more like the original than the moon is like a green cheese.

GEORGIA.

General Condition of Matters in this State—Augusta and Vicinity—Summerville—A Pleasant Resort—Confederate Remains—Hotel Life.

From Our Special Correspondent.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Monday, April 3, 1871.

"The South feels less whipped now than it did five years ago. Reconstruction so far has done nothing but to put unprincipled men in office—men who went into secession for the sake of office, and as soon as that concern was demolished, they went on their knees, and begging for pardon, obtained office under the new régime. The proper reconstruction, Sir, would have been to have kept the Southern States under the United States Government for ten years, until they begged for State Governments. Then the new condition of things between the two races would have lost its novelty, and the people would have become accustomed to it; men with some sense of justice would have come into power; our prosperity would have been regained, and the present condition of things, where the tendency is to fly apart rather than to come together, would not have existed, and the United States Government, instead of being a mere name, would have been treated with some respect in the South."

So said a leading citizen of Savannah, himself a Union man all through the war, to me on reading an account of one of DAVIS' speeches, where he spoke so hopefully of a future Confederacy, and on reading an "Ode to the Confederate Flag," in a local journal, advising its preservation, as it would be wanted again ere long—and undoubtedly the poem but expressed the feeling of the white minority in the South. The present aspect of affairs is regarded as something merely temporary, while the future triumph of the Democratic Party is to give them back what they so much desire—the right to do as they choose. Georgia is comparatively a quiet, prosperous State. In but three counties (Warren, Columbia and Jefferson) do we hear of any Kuklux outrages, and these are much exaggerated as they pass Northward. In the main, the people have settled down with an evident purpose to "accept the situation" and devote their energies to a restoration of their former prosperity.

AUGUSTA.

On the bank of the muddy Savannah, and right on the State line between South Carolina and Georgia, lies the pleasant City of Augusta. Laid out under royal charter in 1735, and incorporated as a city in 1817, Augusta is rightly considered as one of the most beautiful cities in Georgia, as it is the second in population and importance. Although formerly a thrifty, busy city, its business appears to have deserted it, and the stores seem to be merely objects of curiosity, and their daily process of opening and closing mere matters of habit. To this general rule of a decay of commercial prosperity, the cotton factories form a noticeable exception. About them everything seems gifted with energy and life, and the din of their machinery is heard not only all day but also all night, and "twenty per cent. dividends" are their rule instead of exception. Water-power sufficient for many more manufactories than have yet been built, has been secured by means of a canal nine miles in length, which brings the upper floods of the Savannah River to the city at an elevation of some forty feet. For some reason or other Augusta was the only city of any size in the South left untouched by Gen. SHERMAN in his famous "march to the sea," and the line of earth-works surrounding the city were not used either for purposes offensive or defensive.

BEAUTIES OF THE CITY.

Augusta is renowned for the great width of some of its streets, of which Broad and Greene are the most prominent, the former being a sort of Broadway or business street, and the other more of a Fifth-avenue or boulevard. Greene-street is indeed beautiful. Nearly two hundred feet in breadth, with its four rows of thickly-planted shade-trees and the broad strip of green running down the centre for nearly a mile, and forming a well-appreciated pasture for the cows of the neighborhood, lined with residences, many of them pretensions to considerable architectural beauty, and all surrounded with well-kept gardens, redolent with the perfume from the many flowers, the coup d'œil is both novel and pleasing to the visitor used to the cramped and tortuous streets of his own city. On this street is the Court-house or Town Hall, flanked on either hand by a large fountain, and built in the centre of a well-shaded yard. Fronting this building rises a tall granite shaft, on which are cut the arms of the State and the names of "HALL, GWINETT and WATSON," the signers of the Declaration of Independence from the State of Georgia. To show how intelligent some of the Southern whites are, I asked of the janitor of the Court-house what that monument was there to commemorate, and he gravely informed me that one of the most important battles of the Revolution was fought on that very spot of ground, (20 by 20,) and the monument was erected to the memory of the illustrious dead!

The Fair Grounds are situated within the city limits and facing the cemetery. It is here that the great Fair of the Cotton States is held each year on the 3d of May. The grounds, though not large, are neatly laid out in the manner best calculated to subserve their purpose. A half-mile track is open at all times, and in the cool of the evening a dozen or more of gentlemen's carriages may be seen whirling around the inclosure. I rather like Augusta, but it has a quiet, dreamy, sleepy feeling in its very atmosphere that seems to breathe into you a spirit of laziness, and an aversion to anything like exertion.

SUMMERVILLE.

On a lofty range of sand-hills and at a distance of between two and three miles from the city is the beautiful "village" of Summerville. I am doubtful as to the application of the term "village" to this former Summer resort of the wealthy Augustans. It is in fact a collection of handsome Summer residences located along and on the ridge of hills from which in former times the place derived its name, and placed in easy communication with the neighboring city by a line of horse-cars which ply between the two places at least half a dozen times a day. On the summit of the hill is located the United States Arsenal, built in 1827, and now garrisoned by a couple of companies of infantry. Near the Arsenal are the long range of work-shops built by the Confederates during the war, raised above the level of Augusta by some 380 feet, commanding a fine view of the South Carolina hills, the Savannah River, the city and the rolling country around, in a region where sickness is hardly ever known, and where the air is freighted with health and strength for the invalid, with a cooling breeze at all times waving the tops of the tall pines, and abounding in pleasant walks and drives, while access to the city is so easily obtained, Summerville possesses many advantages for the sick that Aiken cannot obtain. The great difficulty in the way of rendering the place available as a resort is in the lack of boarding-places. All of the houses being private residences, it is well-nigh impossible to get rooms. Here is a fine chance for some Northern capitalist. At a spot known as "Milledge Place,"—the highest on the hill, by the way,—is what a land-owner would call a most "eligible site" for a hotel. And a neat, well-kept hotel is all that the place needs to enable it successfully to compete with Aiken. I merely make this as a suggestion, leaving others to profit by it if they see fit. But I feel confident that it would prove a good investment, and all the more so from the fact that there is not a really first-class hotel in Augusta.

CONFEDERATE REMAINS.

At the base of the sand-hills and on the bank of the canal are situated the powder-mills, where was manufactured all the gunpowder used by the Confederates during the last two years of the war. These works, which stand as they were left in a dismantled condition, were the most extensive works of the kind in the world. They extend for nearly three-fourths of a mile along the canal-bank, and consist of thirteen mills, so built that if one should be blown up it would not in any way arrest the work going on in the others. It seems a pity that such splendid buildings should be allowed to go to ruin. It may be interesting to mention that where the powder-mills now are, was, in the early settlement of the city, the original Arsenal where was quartered the United States garrison. But the place was so damp that it was found to be very unhealthy, and so the Arsenal was removed to its present locality in 1826–27.

SOUTHERN HOTEL LIFE.

I close this letter with a few words about hotel life in the South. As a general thing a really good hotel is an exception in this section of the country, and the Kimball Hotel at Atlanta is, I believe, the best hotel in the South. About this more anon. The great difficulty seems to be in the table. Take the Planter's Hotel in this place as an example; it is the best hotel by far in the place, but the table is atrocious. There is in fact hardly any pretense to cleanliness. The porters "assist" as waiters, (they are "ordered up,") and no two of them are clothed alike, and the very field hands on a plantation are cleanlier than they; the food is cold when it gets to you, and judging by its looks you would not like to inquire very minutely as to where it came from. The rooms are large, but bare and uncomfortable. But this much may be said, that the clerks are polite and attentive to all, which in a hotel, like charity elsewhere, covers a "multitude of sins." They do their best, and what more can you ask?—only your bill, and that is four dollars per day. But I must stop, for it is almost time to take the train for Atlanta, from which semi-northern city you may expect to hear from me ere long.

H. W. R.

PERSONAL, POLITICAL, AND GENERAL.

There have been two railroad accidents in Massachusetts this week, caused by the expansion of the rails by heat.

Mr. GEORGE PEABODY RUSSELL, of Salem, Mass., has purchased an estate in Bristol, R. I., and intends to make that place his permanent residence.

ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS has written a letter, expressing approval of the Mobile Register's article refusing to accept the Reconstruction acts as irreversible facts and dead issues.

Concord, N. H., reports that the mercury stood at 92° in the shade there on Saturday at noon. Nothing like it was ever known before in April in that State.

Boston brewers report that although many towns in Massachusetts voted last Fall not to permit the sale of ale within their limits, there has not been any large reduction in the consumption since this law went into effect.

If President GRANT is not again to be a candidate the Des Moines (Iowa) Register urges that Hon. JAMES F. WILSON should be the Republican nominee for the Presidency, and says that the fact that he does not seek the office, or any other, better proves his fitness for it.

The Governor, Secretary of State, and Auditor of Ohio are, in pursuance of law, making a new apportionment of Senators and Representatives for the State Legislature under the new census. The apportionment will stand for ten years.

The Grand Jury of Luzerne County, Penn., has returned a true bill of indictment against BENNINGHOFF, Sr., and two of his sons, for compounding a felony. The BENNINGHOFFS are charged with attempting to settle the great robbery case with the thieves for the purpose of depriving the detectives of the reward offered by BENNINGHOFF. The trial has been postponed to the next term.

Judge FOSTER lately, at Watertown, sentenced the Adams Banks burglars to Auburn State Prison, and not long after a dispatch was received from the Sheriff, announcing his safe arrival at Auburn with the prisoners. The dispatch was read in Court, and the Judge, hinting at the way the trial had been conducted, turned to the lawyer who had been the prisoners' counsel and asked if he had "any exceptions to take to the telegram."

The Mayor of Worcester, Mass., published this brief card in the papers of that city on Monday: "The appearance of several young men, and one or two not so very young, about the streets yesterday afternoon, indicated that some of the drinking saloons might have been open. The undersigned, in a spirit of Christian love, rather than in any authoritative form, earnestly requests all keepers of saloons to be careful how they break the law of the Sabbath, as well as the law of the land."

In charging the Grand Jury at Charleston, S. C., a few days ago. Judge BOND said: "The moment you let people understand that there can be no trifling with the laws of the United States, and that its Revenue laws, however trifling in their estimation, are sacred and must not be violated, you and I will do our duty, and will accomplish what we ought to accomplish in putting down of the greater violations in this State, and which, if we do not begin to suppress, will be an everlasting blot on the character of this State."

Ex-Gov. HARRIMAN, of New-Hampshire, has written another letter to Senator MORTON, in which he says: "We have redeemed Connecticut, and have done this under the crushing influence of our surprising defeat in New-Hampshire, and in the full blaze of the San Domingo discussion in the United States Senate. This result clearly justifies my brief letter to you concerning the disastrous defeat in my State. The Boston Journal, this morning, says, with great significance, (and I desire to emphasize that declaration,) that the people of Connecticut 'have proved that New-Hampshire was lost wholly through local and temporary causes.' I believe this to be substantially true. But New-Hampshire will rise from this ordeal stronger and brighter than ever. Our internal difficulties will be removed, for every Republican now wills it."

The earnest Republicans of the old town of Southampton, in Suffolk County, achieved a most gratifying victory at the election of town officers on the 4th inst. It was whispered around among them that the other side were very busy, and were doing their utmost, quietly, to secure the defeat of the Republican Supervisor, Mr. WM. R. POST. Accordingly the Republicans determined to check-mate them, and most successful were they in the effort. Heretofore the town has polled about 350 or 400 votes, anything above the latter number being a very large vote. But on the 4th the Republicans got out all their men, and the result was a poll of 807 votes for Supervisor, of which their candidate received 571, and the opposition 236. The remainder of the Republican ticket was all elected, the majority being somewhat less, yet sufficiently large to satisfy everybody.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

Before Judge Blatchford.

THE METROPOLITAN HOTEL.

In the case of the Messrs. Leland, proprietors of the Metropolitan Hotel, who were recently adjudicated involuntary bankrupts, Judge BLATCHFORD yesterday granted an order for the sale of the furniture. The order provides that in case Mr. A. T. Stewart, the owner of the hotel, shall not by an agreement mutually satisfactory to himself, to the Marshal, and the petitioning creditors, consent to a sale on the premises, then the Marshal can remove the furniture from the hotel and tax the expense of such removal as costs in the case. It also directs that neither Mr. Stewart nor his agents shall be interfered with in remaining upon the premises for the purpose of protecting the property contained in the hotel, and that they shall not molest the Marshal and his agents in guarding and retaining possession of the furniture which belonged to the bankrupts.

THE BOSTON, HARTFORD AND ERIE LITIGATION.

In the United States District Court, yesterday, Judge BLATCHFORD rendered a decision, in the matter of the objection raised by the Adams Express Company, creditors of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad, recently declared bankrupts in the States of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New-York, to the appointment of assignees who were residents of the two former States. The majority of the creditors voted that these same assignees be appointed in the State of New-York, but the Adams Express Company objected on the ground that they were non-residents. The question was referred to Register Ketchum, who sustained the objection, and Judge BLATCHFORD approved the decision and declined to approve of the election of these assignees.

The United States vs. C. H. Lilienthal and others.—This was an action instituted on the part of the United States authorities against C. H. Lilienthal & Co., the well-known tobacconists, to recover $104,000 which it is alleged they defrauded the Government out of by making false and fraudulent returns. The case, it is expected, will last nearly two weeks.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS—APRIL 11.

Before Judge Brady.

THE KINSMAN ESTATE AGAIN.

Kinsman vs. Connington, Executor, &c.—This, though an old action, the facts of which have frequently appeared in the columns of this paper, has come up again in such a form as to deserve notice. The suit is brought by J. Burnham Kinsman, a nephew of Daniel Kinsman, who died leaving, it is said, about $80,000, the larger portion of which he distributed by will to various persons in moderate circumstances, as a reward for kindness extended to him in his later years. The plaintiff sought to set aside the will before the Surrogate, but failed, and then commenced the present suit to partition the real property, to accomplish substantially the same object of breaking the will. Defendant demurred to the complaint, which was heard before Judge Cardozo, and the present is a motion to resettle the order entered on that occasion as the decision of Judge Cardozo in favor of defendant, counsel for plaintiff claiming that he had received no notice of the settlement of the order.

Judge BRADY inquired of counsel for the defendant, if the plaintiff's attorney had had notice of the settlement of the order, for if, the Judge said, such notice had not been given, the plaintiff's attorney was not bound by it. There being no evidence that such notice of settlement had been served, but on the contrary, that the order was dated on the same day for which the agreement was noticed, thus making it impracticable to give the two days' notice of settlement required by law before settlement of the order. The Judge took the papers and reserved his decision on the motion.

John E. Devlin for motion; Ex-Judge Hull opposed.

CERTIORARI—MRS. LANE'S MUFF.

The People ex rel. vs. Mary Hall.—Some days since one Mary Hall was arrested on a charge of larceny in having stolen a muff, the property of Mrs. Lane. On being arraigned at the Tombs, the prisoner gave a bond for her appearance for trial at the Special Sessions, waiving her right to a trial by jury before the Court of General Sessions. Mr. James C. McClellan, who now represents the prisoner, sued out a writ of certiorari and habeas corpus, which came up for a hearing before Judge BRADY on the returns to the writs. Mr. McClelland asks for an order directing that the trial be had in the General Sessions, instead of the Special Sessions, contending that the counsel who appeared for the prisoner at the time she gave the bond was only authorized to ask for an adjournment of the hearing, and that even though the prisoner did waive her right to be tried by a jury, she had a right to revoke that waiver at any time before trial.

Decision reserved.

James C. McClelland for motion, District-Attorney Garvin, opposed.

SEWERAGE ASSESSMENTS.

In re Sheehy.—This was an application in behalf of Sheehy, who is a property-holder, to vacate an assessment for a sewer in the vicinity of Eighty-sixth-street and Third-avenue. The grounds on which the application was made were, that the property-holders in the district were liable to be assessed only for the [illegible] and that the sewers for which this assessment was imposed extended beyond the district line to the extent of one hundred feet, thirty feet at one point and seventy feet at another, and on this ground, the assessment being erroneous, it was the duty of the Court to set it aside. The application was opposed on the ground that the evidence was insufficient to show that the sewer extended beyond the district limits, the line marking such limit, as laid down on the map, not being sufficiently definite; that the amount for such extension, if it existed, was only $750, out of $80,000, or about one per cent. on the whole, and that it could be set aside only for fraud.

Decision reserved.

Mr. Miller, of Devlin, Miller & Wall, for plaintiff; Mr. Dean for the City.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Justice Ingraham.

AN ATTORNEY'S POWER—A CURIOUS STATEMENT.

Thomas M. Tyng vs. Matthew Baird et al.—Mr. Tyng, the plaintiff, claiming that $360,000 were due from the Bairds, locomotive manufacturers, brought suit against them. His case was referred, and the referee found against him; not only that, but Mr. Justice Barnard allowed the defendants $10,000 extra allowance against him, and judgment was entered against him. As Judge INGRAHAM had previously given an order asked by him, he applied to him, and presented an affidavit to the following extraordinary effect:

In January, 1869, he consulted Horace Andrews, an attorney of this City, and of the firm of Andrews & Ellis, about his claim, and under his advice commenced this action. The case was referred to Theron R. Strong to hear and determine, and hearings were had. On the 20th of May, 1870, Strong applied to Andrews & Ellis as to the condition of the suit, and was told by them that they did not see how the defendants were to escape from a judgment for a large amount. On the 18th of July he received a letter from Andrews, saying that rather to his surprise he had succeeded in settling with the Bairds, they to give a general release to pay the referee and the stenographer, and "a small sum in addition, which we will accept as our fee, you" to give them a general release. The affidavit states that the proposition to settle was entirely without authority, and without even consultation with Mr. Tyng, who refused to assent to or ratify the settlement, and so notified his attorneys, and also Cram & Robinson, attorneys for the defendants. Consequent upon this refusal a dispute arose between him and his attorneys, who refused to conduct the action any longer. Mr. Andrews stated that Mr. Robinson had agreed to pay him $500 for settling the action, and that if Mr. Tyng did not pay him that amount at once he would take steps to compel him to ratify the settlement, the only way in which he could make any thing out of the suit being from the other side, who now offered to pay him his fees for a release; that he was not going to lose one chance to get paid for his time, unless he saw another. The affidavit further states that on the 20th of August, 1870, they, the attorneys, refused to have anything more to do with this case, and three days later commenced an action against him for the $500; that they subsequently did not appear for him in his case but threw every obstacle in his way; that without objection from them he managed his own case as plaintiff in person but with considerable difficulty—the referee refusing him adjournments which he thought he should have had; that the referee reported in favor of the defendant, and that he thereupon, on the 7th of December, 1870, noticed a motion to set aside the report of the referee; that such notice was accepted and the motion argued without any objection on the part of the defendants' attorneys that he was not the counsel in the cause, but merely the plaintiff in person. On the 30th of January last, Judge Ingraham made an order setting aside the referee's report, unless the defendants stipulated within ten days that the decision of the referee should not be a bar to any further action or proceeding of the plaintiff to enforce the claim. This stipulation was not entered. The plaintiff further states in his affidavit that defendants' attorney, knowing the above facts, and that Andrews & Ellis were personally hostile to the plaintiff, applied to Horace Andrews, still one of the plaintiff's attorneys of record, and got from him a consent to vacate Judge Ingraham's order of the 25th of Janurry, and on this consent got from Judge Ingraham a vacation of his own order, and as he is informed this was done on a direct statement in addition to the formal consent of his attorneys, that he himself was purposely kept ignorant of the order, and did not know of it until the 4th of February, and that both his own and defendant's attorneys knew he could never consent to it; that upon the 9th of February, 1871, he was notified by Andrews that a motion was to be made for an extra allowance; that he asked Andrews for the motion papers, and he, Tyng, would have the motion defended; that he, Andrews, replied that so long as he was attorney of record he should use his own judgment in the conduct of the case; that the motion was made before Judge Barnard, Mr. Buckley, who was employed for the defendants, urging, of course, all that was to be said for them; and Mr. Andrews, who appeared for Mr. Tyng, presenting no papers, and urging substantially nothing; that Mr. Justice Barnard, almost as matter of course, under these circumstances, granted an extra allowance of $10,000, and judgment was entered up for $10,477 74-100 against his estate.

The affidavit is in part denied and in part it was claimed that it had been already presented to the Courts and passed on.

Mr. Justice INGRAHAM has, however, granted an order restoring his own order of the 25th of January, 1871, in favor of Mr. Tyng vacating the order obtained from him on the consent of Anderson & Ellis, on the 2d of February, 1871, vacating Judge Barnard's order granting an order allowance of $10,000, and vacating the judgment in favor of the defendants, for $10,477 74-100.

Mr. Luther R. Marsh for plaintiff; Mr. Buckley and Mr. Robinson for defendants.

COMMON PLEAS—EQUITY—APRIL 11.

Before Judge Larremore.

ARE RESTRICTIONS RELATING TO THE CHARACTER OF BUSINESS OR BUILDINGS AN INCUMBRANCE ON REAL ESTATE?

William C. Van Aulen vs. George J. Tyson.—In this case Judge LARREMORE, today, rendered the following decision: This action was brought for the specific performance of a contract for sale of premises No. 143 West Twenty-second-street, in the City of New-York, whereby the plaintiff agreed to sell the same for a stipulated price, in fee simple, "free from all incumbrances." The facts are admitted, and the decision rests entirely upon a question of law. In the deed from the executors of Henry Eckford to Elizabeth Lawrence, (recorded in liber 495, p. 500 of Cons.,) conveying said premises and other lots, is contained a covenant on the part of the grantee her heirs, executors, administrators, and assigns, that she nor they will not at any time thereafter "erect or cause to be erected on said lots of land above conveyed any building other than a dwelling-house or store of at least two stories high from the ground, and of other than of brick, stone, or marble, and one or more covering the whole front of the said lots, except the division fences, &c., and shall not nor will not at any time (thereafter) erect, make, or establish, or carry on, or cause to be erected, made, or carried on, in any manner, in the above described and (thereby) granted premises, or any part thereof, any slaughter-house, distillery, tallow chandlery, smith-shop, forge-furnace, brass foundry, nail or other iron factory, or any manufactory for the making of glass, varnish, vitriol, turpentine, drugs, chemicals or ink, or for the tanning, dressing, preparing or keeping skins, hides or leather, or any sugar bakery, or cooper shop, or any other manufactory, trade, business or calling, which may in any wise be dangerous, noxious or offensive to the neighboring inhabitants." The plaintiff's title is derived from said Elizabeth Lawrence and her grantees, and such covenant is now in full force and effect, for which reason the defendant refuses to take the title, elects to rescind the contract, and demands judgment in his favor for moneys paid on his account and for his damages.

Judge LARREMORE, in giving his decision, says: The question is, whether such a covenant is an incumbrance upon the premises sought to be conveyed. Of this there can be but little doubt. It is a covenant running with the land, binding upon the covenantor and her assigns, and liable to be enforced by those for whose benefit it was made. (Atlantic Dock Co. vs. Leavitt et al., 50 Barb., 135; Gibert vs. Peteler et al., 38 Barb., 488 and 38 N. Y., 165; Roberts vs. Levy, 3 Abb. N. S., 311; in re Whitlock, 32 Barb., 48.) Such a covenant imposes a restriction upon the beneficial enjoyment of the land, and an absolute right of property therein. It was argued with great ability that the principles established in Hendricks vs. Stark, (37 N. Y., 106,) was applicable to this case. After a careful examination of each, I have failed to discover the analogy. In the former case it was held that a party-wall creating a community of interest between adjoining owners is in no just sense to be deemed a legal incumbrance upon the property. The, it was the practice to economize space in populous cities by the erection of building with party-walls. But it appeared that the purchaser acquired what he proposed to buy, and that there was no failure of any substantial inducement to the contract. In the case at Bar the covenant complained of restricts and controls the use of the whole property, and thereby impairs its free alienation. In large cities, particular localities are constantly changing their character, and these premises, although intended for and restricted to a certain use, may in a few years be available only for the very purposes which said covenant prohibits. The plaintiff had notice of said covenant. It is a matter of record; is expressly referred to in the deed to his ancestor from whom he derives title. If he desired to rid himself the embarrassment of its provisions, he should have made the sale subject thereto. Having omitted this, specific performance cannot be decreed. The defendant must have judgment in his favor for the sum of $2,500, the amount paid by him on account of said purchase, with interest thereon from Dec. 2, 1870, and the further sum of $160 40 paid for examination of the title, and costs.

TUESDAY, April 11—P. M.

The Wall-street markets were steady for Gold at 110⅜@110⅝@110½ ℔ cent.; firm for the Public Funds at 111⅜@111⅝ for the 5-20s of 1867; firm on the Foreign Exchanges, but not active in demand, at 109⅜@109½ ℔ cent., and comfortable (and most reports say easy) on Money at 7 ℔ cent., with exceptions at 6 ℔ cent. ℔ annum. Speculation on the Stock Exchange was strong in prices and buoyant in spirit in the New-York and Western Roads, and in Western Telegraph and some of the other Miscellaneous Shares. A number of the low-priced Western Road Stocks have come into special favor of late, prominent among which is the Ohio and Mississippi, on the reorganization of the management under the auspices of the Baltimore and Ohio and certain wealthy New-York interests. The Toledo and Wabash Road is also again in demand, and the dealings in the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Road and the Columbus, Chicago and Indiana Central have become more conspicuous, while Union Pacific Stock is one of the most active "speculatives" of the Stock Exchange. Among the older-established properties paying 8@10 ℔ cent. Dividends, Lake Shore took the lead today in the activity of transactions, followed by New-York Central Stock and Certificates, Reading, the North-Wests and Rock Island. In Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati the business in the Stock as well as on the Road has increased of late, and the prices touched 89@89½ ℔ cent. this Afternoon. In Southern State Bonds prices were steady on a fair amount of transactions. In the Pacific Bonds, Centrals rose to 96, Unions sold at 84½, and the Union Land Grants at 74 ex-dividend.

After the late Boards the following quotations were made, as compared with Monday night. The Railways were slightly off from the best sales of the day and the market somewhat tame:

The report is current, and we believe not without foundation, that Mr. SHEPHERD KNAPP, the old and universally esteemed President of the Mechanics' Bank, has resigned his trust, to take effect on the election of his successor. The cause of resignation, if any other than the advancing years of Mr. KNAPP really induced his retirement, may have relation to the changed conduct of the Bank in respect to Wall-street or Stock Exchange accounts, in contradistinction to its old mercantile policy of Loans and Discounts. It will be remembered that some months since, on more than one occasion, the Bank was used, to the great scandal of the old-fashioned and staid Directors of the concern, by certain great speculators in Stocks, to "lock up" Money by means of "certified checks" on the Bank, to be withheld from the morning exchanges or clearances at the Bank Clearing-House, and at a later hour drawn out in Greenbacks by the depositor. We can well imagine that the wrong-doing itself, no less than its public exposure, was anything but pleasant to those Directors who, like Mr. KNAPP, could not understand how any Stock Jobber's account, however large its nominal balances, could be made really profitable to the Bank at the expense of its good name for fair dealing with the community and at the sacrifice of a proper sense of comity with its associated neighbors in the Clearing-House.

There was a full representation of the Stockholders of the Harlem Road at a meeting at the office of the Company at noon today. The affairs and highly-encouraging prospects of the Road, on the approaching completion of its great station property in Fourth-avenue and Forty-second-street, were discussed, and the means voted for completing this important improvement, in the shape of an increase of capital of $2,000,000, any part of which is placed in the discretion of Mr. VANDERBILT, to be disposed of as the needs of the Company may require.

A firm of Brokers of respectability on the Stock Exchange, and one that enjoyed for a number of years the reputation of prudence and a strict commission business, suspended payment today in consequence of recent losses on the Bearish side of speculation in the Railways and in Western Telegraph. It is not stated whether their losses grew out of their own operations or on account of business for their customers.

The Pennsylvania Petroleum Trade in March.

The Titusville Herald of April 10, in its monthly review of the Petroleum trade in March, says:

"The production of Oil in the region during the month of March shows an average daily decline for the month of nearly 900 bbls., or 13,531 bbls. ℔ day, against 14,391 in the month preceding, and a total yield for March of 419,468 bbls. With a few exceptions, there was a steady decline in the production of nearly every tract in the region, which, though not large in any single locality, aggregated the amount mentioned throughout the producing districts. The largest increase for the month occurred in the vicinity of Pithole, and at this point did not exceed 70 bbls. ℔ day. In the vicinity of Rouseville several farms show a slight increase, but this was counteracted by the falling off on other tracts in that vicinity, which was greater in the aggregate than the increase. A large number of farms show no change in the production, while others vary so little as not to require mention.

The following table shows the production for March, 1871:

	Bbls.
Total shipment of Crude for March, 1871, of bbls. of 45 gallons each	371,331
Add to reduce to bbls. of 43 gallons each	17,271
Total shipment of bbls. of 43 gallons each	388,602
Stock on hand March 1	642,944
Stock on hand April 1	673,810
Add increase to April 1	30,866
Total production during March	419,468
Average per day for 31 days	13,531
Average per day in March, 1870	12,385
Daily increase March, 1871, over March, 1870	1,146

The month of March, though of the most favorable character for operating, witnessed no important strikes, though in the vicinity of Pithole a well was completed which, in connection with the 'Haskell' well of the month previous, served to swell the production in this locality and give an impetus to operations, the result of which is seen in the increase in the number of drilling wells, which numbered twenty at the close of March, against one-fourth of that number at the beginning. Whether this new oil belt does or does not extend any considerable distance from the recent 'strikes' mentioned, is of course uncertain, and it will be from thirty to sixty days before a sufficient number of wells are completed to prove the value of this territory or even partially define its limits.

As stated before, the principal points of interest to operators, and those where the largest number of drilling wells are going down, are Parker's Landing, Pithole, Brady's Bend, and Church Run, and though no great results are anticipated from any one of these points, it is probable that many paying wells will be found, which will at least render any further decline during the Summer months doubtful, and perhaps increase the average yield of the region, though not to any extent, unless 'wild catting' should develop some unexpected field, as during the year previous.

One thing is very certain, that as a class the 'producing interest' have not the 'facilities' for extensive operating that marked the year 1870, and even should new and largely-productive territory be discovered, with the experience of last year it is doubtful whether there would be so many wells started, or the production be allowed to assume like proportions.

The increase in stock throughout the region amounted to 30,000 barrels, or a total stock of 673,810 barrels April 1, against 642,944 on March 1.

The annexed table shows the amount in iron tankage and the total stock at the dates named:

The prices of oil ranged considerably lower during March than the month previous, and but a small quantity was purchased by refiners, owing to the small margin left the latter for profit at the present prices of Refined. The price on the 1st of March for Crude was $4 25 on the Upper and $4 40 on the Lower Road. The price appreciated slightly until the 11th, when a gradual decline set in, until the 21st, when $4 15 and $4 20 was the ruling figure upon the Upper and Lower Roads respectively. On the 22d a fall of fifteen cents per barrel from the prices of the day previous occurred, and the market slowly but surely receded until the close, when $3 95 was the ruling figure upon both sections of the road.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

☞ TANNER & CO., BANKERS, NO. 11 WALL-ST., NEW-YORK,

Financial Agents for the sale of the First Mortgage Bonds of the St. Joseph and Denver City Railroad Company.

The total issue of these Bonds is $1,500,000 on 112 miles of road completed and now in operation, which is at the rate of $13,500 per mile.

The gross earnings of this road are now exceeding in amount its operating expenses and the interest on its bonded debt.

These Bonds are therefore a first-class investment, and must soon advance in price, as but a limited amount now remain unsold.

We recommend the Securities with perfect satisfaction.

Price 97½ and accrued interest.

HARVEY FISK. A. S. HATCH.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS, NO. 5 NASSAU STREET,
NEW-YORK, March 27, 1871.

☞ THE FIRST MORTGAGE SIX PER CENT. GOLD BONDS OF THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY—of which about $6,000,000 have already been marketed—are secured upon an East and West Trunk Line of Road, 427 miles in length, the greater part of which (227 miles) is in profitable operation, and the remainder rapidly building. When completed it will establish a short, economical, and favorite route between tide-water navigation and the chief railroad and river cities of the West.

Beside the immense volume of through traffic between the East and West which this road can command by its superior advantages in distance, grades, fuel, and unfailing navigable connections, this road must convey enormous quantities of the superior smelting, cannel, and bituminous coals of the Kanawha Valley and the iron ores of Virginia and West Virginia, which are in demand at both ends of the line.

The value of the property, the certainty of a large and profitable business, the established reputation and credit of the Company, and its able and honorable management, give to these securities an assurance of superior value and safety.

They may be had in Coupon or Registered form, and in denominations of $1,000, $500, and $100.

Price, 90 and accrued interest from Nov. 1.

We have prepared pamphlets, showing the agricultural, mineral, and manufacturing advantages of the adjacent territory, and the traffic facilities and financial prospects of the Road, which will be furnished on application.

☞ NEW LOAN OF UNITED STATES.

The subscriptions to the New Five Per Cent. Stock of the United States now amount to $56,000,000. They are confidently expected to reach $200,000,000 by the time the New Bonds are ready for delivery in May. The proposals of the Secretary of the Treasury will then be changed to the following programme:

First—Bonds to the amount of three hundred millions of dollars, payable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after ten years from the date of their issue, and bearing interest, payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of five per cent. per annum.

Second—Bonds to the amount of three hundred millions of dollars, payable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after fifteen years from the date of their issue, and bearing interest, payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of four and a half per cent. per annum.

Third—Bonds to the amount of seven hundred millions of dollars, payable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after thirty years from the date of their issue, and bearing interest, payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of four per cent. per annum.

Subscriptions to the loan will have preference, after the above-mentioned two hundred millions are taken up, in the following order, namely:

First—Subscriptions for equal amounts of each class of bonds.

Second—Subscriptions for equal amounts of bonds bearing interest at the rate of four and a half per cent., and of bonds bearing interest at the rate of five per cent.

Third—Subscriptions for any five per cent. bonds that may not be subscribed for in the preceding classes.

Subscriptions to the remainder of the $200,000,000 of five per cents., which are unconditional, are now going on, and the bonds will soon be issued to subscribers, who can receive a scrip certificate, in advance, if they desire to pay their gold or exchange their United States 5-20s at once, in the Registered or Coupon form. Registered bonds will be issued of the denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000; and coupon bonds of each denomination except the last two. The interest will be payable in the United States, at the office of the Treasurer, any Assistant Treasurer, or designated Depositary of the Government, quarterly, on the first days of February, May, August and November, in each year.

The bonds of the several classes aforesaid, and the interest thereon, are exempt from the payment of all taxes or dues of the United States, as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal or local authority.

After maturity, the bonds last issued will be first redeemed, by classes and numbers, as may be designated by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Extensive subscriptions have already been made through the following New-York City banks and bankers:

☞ A CHOICE SECURITY.

NEW YORK AND OSWEGO MIDLAND RAILROAD COMPANY.

First Mortgage 7 per cent. Gold Bonds.

A very large full paid up stock subscription.

$100, $500 AND $1,000 BONDS,
COUPON AND REGISTERED.

The new trunk line from New-York City to the North and West, between the New-York Central and Erie Railways, and many miles shorter than either from New-York to Buffalo.

Two hundred and twenty miles of finished road already in existence, cost twice the amount of bonds issued; may fairly be called the best character of real estate loan; title perfect and value constantly enhancing; issue of bonds positively limited to $20,000 per mile of finished road. A very small loan per mile, highly thought of by bankers, and we believe a security of the highest grade. The road is earning largely. Is a better investment than money in a savings bank. FLOUR AND MEAL—There has been a very moderate inquiry for all grades of State and Western Flour, without any material changes in values. The offerings have been on a restricted scale, and holders have not been eager to place stock at the ruling figures. Sales have been reported since our last of 8,900 bbls., all told, including poor to choice Superfine State and Western at $6 15@$6 55; inferior to very good Extra State at $6 60@$6 80; very good to fancy, $6 80@$7 25; poor to good shipping Extra Western, $6 55@$6 80; poor to very good shipping brands round-hoop Extra Ohio at $6 65@$6 85 ℔ bbl. We quote:

No. 2 Flour, ℔ bbl	$4 75@$5 90
Sour Flour	5 60@ 6 50
Superfine State and Western	6 15@ 6 55
Extra State	6 60@ 7 25
Extra City, shipping brands	6 60@ 7 25
Extra Genesee	7 30@ 9 00
Extra Ohio, round-hoop shipping brands	6 65@ 6 85
Extra Ohio, trade and family brands	6 90@ 9 25
Extra Western, shipping brands	6 55@ 6 80
Extra Western, trade and family brands	6 85@ 9 25
Extra St. Louis, ordinary to fancy	7 10@10 00

Southern Flour has been in moderate demand and held with rather more confidence, with sales reported since our last of 750 bbls., in lots, at $6@$7 10 for poor to good, and $7 10@$9 75 for good to choice Extra, ℔ bbl. Rye Flour has been in request at from $4 30@$6 30 for very inferior to choice ℔ bbl.; sales, 300 bbls. Corn-meal continues in moderate request at $3 50@$4 25 for Yellow and White Western; $3 65@$3 85 for Jersey; $4 35 for Caloric, and $4 35@$4 45 for Southern and Brandywine, ℔ bbl.; sales, 400 bbls. We quote:

Southern Flour, poor to good Extra	$6 00@$7 10
Southern Flour, good to very fancy Extra	7 10@ 9 75
Rye Flour, inferior to very choice	6 35@ 6 40
Corn-meal, poor to choice	3 50@ 4 50
Corn-meal, puncheon	21 00@21 25

FRUIT—All kinds have been very dull at about former figures, including Layer Raisins at $2 75@$2 80 ℔ box, and Currants at 9¼c.@9½c. ℔ lb.

GRAIN—The Wheat market has been quoted a shade stronger, under the more favorable Liverpool advices, with a moderate inquiry noted, mostly for shipment, on the basis of $1 60 for prime new No. 2 Spring, called No. 1, in store; and $1 65 for old Amber Western, (Winter,) in store; and $1 65 for new do., afloat. Other descriptions have not been in much request, but have been held with a fair show of confidence. The increasing firmness in the ocean freight line operated against free movements, and buoyancy in values, toward the close. Millers have been purchasing with reserve, and mainly in a jobbing way. Sales have been reported since our last of 94,000 bushels, in store and afloat, including inferior to choice White Western, at $1 70@$1 95; Red and Amber Western at $1 55@$1 65, chiefly at $1 65, for new Amber, and $1 55 for old do., the latter from store, (40,000 bushels,) for export; No. 1 Spring at $1 60 bid for straight, in store; No. 2 Spring at $1 60, in store; old Spring at $1 47@$1 50; White Genesee at $1 90@$2; Red and Amber State at $1 62@$1 65; White Southern nominally at $1 75@$2, ℔ bushel. Corn has been offered freely, especially in view of the unfavorable Liverpool advices, and the stringency in ocean freights, and prices have been quoted 2c.@3c. a bushel lower, with a fairly active inquiry at the reduction. The bulk of the business has been in new Mixed Western within the range of from 75c.@78c., closing heavy at about 75c. ℔ bushel. Sales have been reported since our last of 97,000 bushels, part to arrive, at 75c.@78c. for ordinary to choice new Mixed Western, closing at 75c., including for good average samples; 78c.@81c. for Yellow Jersey, Western, and Southern; 77½c.@81c. for White do.; 76c.@78c. for odd lots from track, in inferior condition, ℔ bushel. The export purchases were on a liberal scale at the modified figures. Rye has been in light demand within the range of 95c.@$1 10 for old and new Western, and $1 12@$1 20 for State, ℔ bushel; sales, 1,850 bushels. Barley has been quiet since our last, at 97c.@$1 35 for poor ordinary to choice Canada West; 95c.@$1 10 for Western; 85c.@$1 20 for State; sales have been reported of 7,800 bushels. Barley-malt has been very dull at 90c.@$1 20 for inferior to very choice Canada, and 85c.@$1 05 for State; sales, 2,000 bushels. Oats have been quite moderately sought after at essentially unchanged prices. Prime stock has not been offered with much freedom. Sales have been reported since our last of 34,000 bushels at 67½c.@72½c., as the extremes, for inferior to new Prime White Mixed Pennsylvania, Jersey and Ohio, chiefly on the basis of 68c.@68½c., in store, and 70½c.@71c. afloat, for Mixed Western; 69c.@71c. for State; 70c.@72c. for White Ohio, from track, store and delivered, ℔ bushel. The export clearances since our last have been 20,372 bushels Wheat for Penarth Roads and orders; 13,609 bushels Wheat and 500 bushels Corn for Antwerp.

GUNNY-BAGS AND BAGGING—Have been very dull at former prices.

HAY—Bale Hay continues in fair demand at $1 15 for shipping, and $1 20@$1 45 for local use, ℔ 100 lbs. Straw has been moderately inquired for at from 70c.@$1 35 for Short and Long, ℔ 100 lbs.

HEMP—Manila has been in some request, and 1,500 bales have been purchased at 9¾c., gold, ℔ lb. Of Jute Butts, 100 bales were sold at 4c., currency, ℔ lb. Other kinds neglected.

HIDES—Have attracted less attention, at previous quotations.

HOPS—Have been selling moderately at from 6c.@12c. for crop of 1870, and 2c.@4c. for older growth, ℔ lb. Receipts, 150 bales; exports, — bales.

LEATHER—Sole has been without change of moment in value, on a restricted trade. The receipts since our last have been 24,736 sides.

METALS—There has not been much call for Ingot Copper, since our last, but prices have been quoted about steady on the basis of 21¼c.@21½c. ℔ lb. Sales, 240,000 lbs. Pig-iron, though quoted firmer, has been without remarkable activity. Glengarnock has been quoted at $33@$34, and Eglinton at $32@$33 50, with sales of 500 tons, and No. 1 American at $34 50@$35 50, with sales of 300 tons at $35. Bar, Sheet and Scrap Iron has been dull at old rates. Iron Rails have been in some demand on the basis of $55@$57, gold, for English, and $70@$72, currency, for American, at the works; sales, 150 tons old Rails on private terms. Pig-lead has been slow of sale, on the basis of $6 20, gold, for ordinary foreign, ℔ 100 lbs., with sales of 50 tons; and Plate Spelter at 5¾c.@6c., with sales of 15 tons at 6c., gold, ℔ lb. Pig-tin has been quiet at about former figures, including Straits at 33c., with sales of 450 slabs; English at 33c., and Banca at 38¼c.@38½c., gold, ℔ lb. Tin Plates have been moderately inquired for at about steady prices; sales have been reported of 500 boxes. I. C. Charcoal at $8 50, and 600 boxes Machen Terne at $7 37½, gold, ℔ box.

MOLASSES—The demand has been on a restricted scale, and values have been, in most instances, somewhat nominal. Sales have been reported of 256 bbls. New-Orleans, part at auction, at from 47c.@68c. ℔ gallon. We quote Porto Rico at from 38c.@62c. for new; Cuba, 20c.@32c. for old, and 23c.@45c. for new; English Islands, 25c.@40c., and New-Orleans at 60c.@70c. ℔ gallon.

NAVAL STORES—Resin has been very dull at about $2 60@$2 65 for strained, ℔ 280 lbs.; sales, 240 bbls., at the lower rate. Receipts, 3,020 bbls.; exports, 1,315 bbls. Tar and Crude Turpentine have been inactive at unchanged figures. Spirits Turpentine has been quiet, but steady at 54½c. for merchantable, and 55c. for New-York pkgs., ℔ gallon. We quote: Spirits Turpetine, 54c.@55½c. ℔ gallon; Crude nominal. Resin, $2 60@$7 75 ℔ 280 lbs., the latter for choice White. Tar, $2 60@$2 75. Pitch, $2 75 ℔ bbl.

OILS—The demand has been rather more satisfactory for the leading kinds since our last, at firm prices in most instances.

NEW-BEDFORD MARKET—For the week ending April 10.—Sperm—Has been in demand since our last, and sales were made of 350 bbls. for manufacture, and 650 do. for export, on private terms. Whale—Has continued in fair demand, with sales of 700 bbls. Northern, and 200 do. dark do. for manufacture, on private terms.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been in light demand and quoted cheaper, though closing with some show of steadiness on restricted offerings. Sales have been reported of 300 bbls., in lots, at $19 75@$19 87 for New Western Mess; $19 50@$19 75 for New-York City do.; $17@$17 50 for New Prime to Extra Prime; $18@$18 25 for Prime Mess, ℔ bbl. For forward delivery there was a limited inquiry noted for New Western Mess, on the reduced basis of $19 62½@$19 75, seller April, May and June; sales 1,750 bbls. Dressed Hogs have been slow of sale, within the range of 8c.@9c. for City. Cut-meats continue dull and heavy; sales have been reported of 100 pks. at 11½c.@13¼c. for Hams, and 7¾c.@8¼c. for Shoulders, ℔ lb. Bacon has been in moderate demand for export at about 9¾c.@10c. for Long Clear; 10½c.@10¾c. for Short Clear; 10c. for Short Rib, and 9½c. for Cumberland; sales 325 pks., including 265 boxes City-cured South Stafford, Stafford, and light Long Clear (Lackitt's) on private terms. Lard has been held with some show of confidence, and has been offered rather sparingly, but has been without activity. Sales have been reported since our last of 400 tcs. and bbls. for prompt delivery, at 11c.@12⅛c., for No. 1 to choice Steam and Kettle-rendered, chiefly at 11¾c.@11⅞c. for New Western Steam, and 11¾c.@11⅞c. for City. For forward delivery sales have been reported of 750 tcs. Western Steam, including seller April on private terms, and seller May, at 11¾c. ℔ lb. Beef has been slow of sale, and buyers have had any existing advantage as to price. Sales have been reported of 120 bbls., in lots, at $10@$15 for Plain Mess; $15@$18 for Extra, ℔ bbl. Tierce Beef continues dull and heavy at $22@$26 50 for Prime Mess, and $28@$31 for India Mess, ℔ tierce; sales 70 tcs. Beef Hams have been very quiet at $27@$30 ℔ bbl.; sales 60 bbls. Butter has been inactive and depressed, including Old Crop State, inferior to prime, 15c.@38c., and Western, inferior to strictly prime, 12c.@33c.; the day's receipts were 678 pks. New Crop Butter, at from 25c.@43c. for the range. Cheese has been quiet at from 5c.@16c., as extremes, for very inferior to fancy Factory; the day's receipts have been 208 boxes.

RICE—Has been lightly dealt in at unchanged figures, Rangoon, $7@$7 37½; Carolina, $8 12½@$8 75, ℔ 100 lbs.

SALT—Has been readily taken at uniform prices.

SEEDS—There has been a very slow call noted for Clover at 10c.@10½c. ℔ lb.; and for Timothy $6 25@$6 50 ℔ bushel. Calcutta Linseed has been in demand at firm rates; sales, 4,500 bags to arrive, at $2 32, gold, ℔ bushel of 56 lbs.

SOAP—Has been in fair demand, including Castile at 10¼c.@11c.; Colgate's Pale, 7¼c.; Family, 8¼c., and No. 1, 6¼c., ℔ lb.

SUGARS—Raw have been in moderate request at uniform prices, with sales reported since our last of 615 hhds. New-Orleans, Cuba, Porto Rico and Demerara at from 8½c.@11¾c., chiefly on the basis of 9c.@9¼c. for fair to good Refining, and 10½c. for Centrifugal; also, 250 boxes Havana at 10¼c., ℔ lb. We quote: Fair to good refining grades Cuba at 9c.@9¼c.; fair to choice grocery grades, 9¼c.@10¼c.; Porto Rico grocery grades range from 9½c.@10½c.; No. 12 Box Sugar, 9¾c. ℔ lb. Refined have been salable and steady at from 10½c.@12½c. ℔ lb.

TALLOW—Has been in moderate demand at steady rates. Sales have been reported since our last of 145,000 lbs. Tallow at 8¾c.@9c., chiefly at 8¾c.; also, 27,000 lbs. Stearine at 12c.@12½c. ℔ lb.

TOBACCO—The demand has been light for all kinds at previous figures; sales, 275 hhds. Kentucky at 6c.@9c.; 100 cases Seed Leaf at 30c.@65c.; 150 bales Havana at 85c.@$1; and 94 bales old III Yara on private terms. We quote new crop Kentucky thus:

	Light Grades.	Heavy Grades.
Lugs	6c. @ 6½c.	7c. @ 7½c.
Common to Medium Leaf	7c. @ 7½c.	7½c.@ 8½c.
Good Leaf	8c. @ 8½c.	8½c.@ 9½c.
Fine Leaf	8½c.@ 9½c.	9½c.@10c.
Selections	10c. @11c.	10½c.@11c.

We quote old crop Seed Leaf as follows: Connecticut and Massachusetts Fillers, 15c.@18c.; Binders and Seconds, 25c.@32c.; Wrappery lots, 35c.@40c.; fine Wrappers, 45c.@65c.; New-York State Fillers, 12c.@15c.; average lots, 25c.@30c.; Wrappers, 20c.@40c.; Pennsylvania and Ohio Fillers, 12c.@15c.; average lots, 20c.@22½c.; Wrappers, 22c.@40c. Havana Tobacco—New crop as follows: Havana, Common, 77½c.@82½c., currency; Good, 85c.@95c., currency; Fine, 97½c.@$1 02½, currency; Yara, I cut, 95c.@$1, currency; II cut, $1 12@$1 15, currency; average lot, 92½c.@97½c., currency. Manufactured Tobacco—Black work, common and medium, 16c.@19c., in bond; good and fine, 20c.@24c., in bond. Bright work, common and medium, 25c.@30c., in bond; good and fine, 35c.@55c., in bond.

WHISKY—Has been in moderate demand and less firm, with sales reported of 300 bbls., chiefly at 90½c.@90¾c. for wood and iron bound pks., ℔ gallon. Receipts, — bbls.

WOOL—There has been a moderate call noted for desirable grades at firm and buoyant prices. The offerings of prime stock have been comparatively limited.

FREIGHTS—The market has been quoted stronger for berth room, particularly for grain for British ports, with a more urgent call for accommodation. The offering of room, both by sail and steam, has been on a restricted scale, and ship-owners have been quite confident in their views. Bids for steam room for Grain for Liverpool for the closing week of April and early half of May have been made at equal to full current market rates, but have not been accepted, steam-ship owners preferring to take the chances of the market. The inquiry for vessels, in the chartering line, has been moderate for Grain, quite active for Petroleum, and limited for Cotton, Lumber and general cargo. For Liverpool there were taken 850 bales Cotton at ¼d.@1-16d., by sail, and 9-32d.@11-32d., by steam, ℔ lb.; 55,000 bushels Wheat and Corn, by steam, at 7¾d.@8¼d., closing with 8¼d. bid and 8½d. asked, ℔ bushel; 350 boxes Bacon and 150 tcs. Lard, by steam, at 30s.; 80 hhds. Tallow, part by sail, at 22s. 6d. ℔ ton. For London, 7,800 bushels Corn, by sail, at 7½d. ℔ 56 lbs., closing with 7½d. bid and 8d. asked. For Bristol, a British bark, of 307 tons register, with about 2,200 quarters Wheat, at 4s. 9d. ℔ quarter. For Cork and orders, a Greek bark, of 318 tons register, with 2,300 quarters Grain, at 5s. 6d. ℔ quarter. For German Baltic ports, a Norwegian bark, with 2,500 bbls. Refined Petroleum, from Philadelphia, at 4s. 9d. ℔ bbl. For Cronstadt, a Norwegian bark, of 500 tons register, with about 3,500 bbls. NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

The Versailles forces have driven the insurgents from Neuilly, and repulsed them at Chatillon. Forts Vanvres and Issy have been shelled, but still hold out. Asnieres has been occupied by the Nationals. Firing is still going on at Porte Maillot and in the Bois de Boulogne. The Communal authorities have seized the plate in the Foreign Office, and made a demand upon the Church for 1,000,000 francs, threatening to kill the Archbishop if it is not forthcoming. M. FAVRE says the Government has the sympathies of all European nations. THIERS has issued another reassuring circular. The official journal declares that Napoleonism and Communism are dead. A deputation has left Paris for Versailles to propose measures of conciliation. The continuance of the Republic and the municipal franchises of Paris, and its protection by the National Guard, will be insisted on.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, the resolution admitting GOLDTHWAITE, of Alabama, and BLODGETT, of Georgia, to seats, was laid on the table by 19 yeas to 17 nays. A revenue reform resolution was offered by Mr. SHERMAN, of Ohio, favoring a reduction of revenue to the amount needed for actual expenses. It was laid over. The Amnesty bill was received from the House, and notice given that a motion would be made for its consideration before the end of the session. The Kuklux bill occupied the rest of the day, but no vote was reached.

In the House the day was spent on the Deficiency bill. The extravagance of the Senate amendments was condemned, and several members took occasion to ventilate their views on finances generally. Several amendments of minor importance were voted on, and the subject then went over.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate yesterday a large number of minor bills were rapidly considered and passed, when the morning session was ended. In the evening the Senate ordered a few bills to a third reading, and after transacting a little routine business adjourned. In the Assembly business was blocked by the Weed-Irving difficulty, as the investigating Committee announced that they were unable to make a report, so the Speaker adjourned the House, in accordance with the resolution passed on Monday evening. In the evening session the Committee reported a resolution adjudging IRVING guilty of a breach of privilege, and that had he remained a member he would have deserved the severest punishment. The report was accepted by an unanimous vote, and the matter so ended. Some routine legislative business was then hurried through, and the Assembly adjourned.

GENERAL.

WILLIAM HARRISON, a resident of Central Falls, R. I., was fatally injured by a freight-train on the Hartford Road, near Sterling, Conn., on Saturday night.

Col. FISK's letter to Mayor GASTON, of Boston, requesting the hospitalities of the city to the Ninth New-York Regiment on its proposed visit to Boston in June next, has been presented to the Board of Aldermen, who laid the document on the table.

Hereafter every patrolman of the New-York Police is expected to properly salute, on meeting or passing, a Commissioner, the Superintendent, an Inspector, a Captain, a Sergeant or Roundsman, of his own or any other precinct, when in uniform. This is intended as a matter of discipline.

In the case of JOHN J. CAREY, who died from the effects of a beating received at the hands of a gang of ruffians, in this City, on St. Patrick's Day, the Coroner's jury rendered a verdict, yesterday, that CAREY met his death at the hands of persons unknown to them.

THOMAS HODGES, a notorious ruffian and horse-thief, who had mortally wounded a man near Stanton, Va., was taken from the jail, early yesterday morning, by a mob, who hanged him a short distance out of town. None of the leaders were disguised, but were utter strangers to the Sheriff and jailer, who attempted to thwart their purposes.

The Watervliet (N. Y.) town election has resulted in a Republican triumph by an average plurality. The town includes West Albany, West Troy and Green Island.

Heavy rain and wind storms are reported in Iowa and Wisconsin, which have done considerable damage.

The Methodist Conference at Peekskill adjourned yesterday sine die. A decrease of 220 in the membership is reported. Bishop CLARK is in a more comfortable condition.

The official canvass of the vote for State officers in Connecticut has been postponed until the 21st inst. The vote was so close that unofficial certificates were only issued to Congressmen-elect STRONG, STARKWEATHER and BARNUM, Mr. KELLOGG being denied his on a counter claim to the seat from his opponent.

J. B. BREWER, editor of the Fairfield County (Conn.,) Democrat, while attempting yesterday morning to get upon a moving train of cars at Bridgeport, fell beneath the wheels. His leg was broken, and he was mangled and seriously injured about the body and head.

The following is the specie list per steamship Rising Star, from San Francisco: F. PROBST & Co., $60,215; LANMAN & KEMP, $3,000; RIBON & MUNOZ, $650; E. BOOSEY & Co., $160. Total, $64,025.

MOSES S. TERWILLIGER, who choked his mother to death in Ulster County, New-York, has made a full confession and described the manner of his crime.

The fair for the relief of the destitute in France has been opened in Boston, and promises to be a great success.

The Taxes.

Senator SHERMAN shows that he correctly appreciates the popular sentiment, by introducing a resolution for the purpose of instructing the Finance Committee to inquire into the best means of reducing the taxes. It cannot be said that the people are ignorantly impatient of taxation. They have borne almost without a murmur a drain upon their pockets which, perhaps, no other Government could have ventured to make upon a nation, and now they feel that substantial relief ought to be afforded them. Nothing would give so much popularity to the Administration as a sensible and judicious reduction of taxation in all directions. Some imposts ought to have been swept away long ago. The income tax is the most obnoxious of all, and as we have repeatedly pointed out, the amount of money which it brings in bears no proportion to the irritation it causes. We have not heard so much about it this year, because the tax-collector has not yet been his rounds. But when the money is demanded again, there is sure to be a fresh outcry. Every assessment paper may be regarded as a "campaign document" in the interests of the Democratic Party. It is impossible in these days for people to go on paying the income tax with cordial feelings toward the party in power. There was a promise that it should be rescinded, and to keep it in existence another year is to put the patience of the public to a very unnecessary and imprudent test.

Mr. SHERMAN proposes to ascertain by inquiry in what way the tariff levies can be most advantageously reduced. It is possible, we hope, to satisfy the revenue reformers without playing into the hands of the ultra free-traders. That the free-traders number among them many active and thoughtful members of the party cannot be doubted. But the bulk of the people wish to make proper provision for the gradual liquidation of the debt, and they know that the current expenses of the Government cannot be raised without duties. To make the sudden change in our financial system which the free-traders demand, would not only be a costly but a very hazardous experiment. We shall be ready for free trade at some future time, but due preparation is needed for so great a revolution in our fiscal system. If Republican free-traders insist upon voting for a Democratic candidate who supports their views, rather than for one of their own party who desires to proceed cautiously, they will not carry the majority of the people with them. Those who demand prudent revenue reforms are much more entitled to attention. They have the West very largely with them, and their cause is one which everywhere appeals to the popular sympathies. If Mr. SHERMAN's resolution leads to a careful discussion of a complex question, and gives rise to a wise compromise upon it, he will have been the means of doing good service to even that section of his party which is at present in favor of maintaining prohibitive duties.

We have made immense progress towards paying off the debt, and now the people require a little breathing space. Without desiring to transfer the burden to a remote posterity, it is only reasonable to hold that the expenses of a war which was fought for the benefit of all future comers should not be endured by a single generation. There must be time given for the payment of so vast an amount. The strain has been very severe upon the tax-payers for some years past, and now they have earned the right to appeal for relief. The Democratic Party will propose in a vague way to do without taxation altogether, but in the cities where they already rule it is not found that they are able or willing to carry their theories into practice. They not only cannot do without money, but they resort to contrivances for raising it which have hitherto been unknown to constitutional Governments. If New-York is an example of what could be done under a Democratic system of raising taxes and spending them, very few people would be desirous of seeing the Republicans turned out. We can, however, do better than we have yet done, and by avoiding the counsel of extremists on both sides, the wishes of the people generally can be satisfied without risk of sacrificing any important interests.

Compulsory Education in Pennsylvania.

Considering the startling increase of crimes of every sort, almost directly traceable to ignorance, it is hard to resist the conclusion that compulsory education affords the only promise of relief from the growing danger. It has been tried elsewhere, with gratifying results, and we have more than once expressed ourselves in favor of trying it here. But it must be remembered, at the same time, that this is a radical remedy, and must be handled with the utmost delicacy and caution, to secure its true benefits. At first sight it certainly looks like an unpardonable infringement on the liberty of the subject, and although in a case like this, individual right must give way to the public good, the arbitrariness of the encroachment need not be so insisted on as to make a naturally unpopular law doubly obnoxious. Every pains, at least, should be taken to conciliate in its favor the feelings of that more cultivated class of the community on whose suffrages it must depend almost entirely for its support. Ignorance hugs its errors as the owl, so oddly miscalled the bird of wisdom, clings to its native darkness; and the example of that resolute ignoramus in one of the Eastern States, who threatens to resist with violence any attempt to educate his children, is apt to be contagious. In framing any such act, the utmost care should be had to avoid giving unnecessary offense to the prejudices or convictions of any class, but more especially of the enlightened few who alone can be counted on as probable supporters of the system.

Such caution does not seem to have been exercised in preparing the bill lately introduced into the Pennsylvania Legislature, which requires the attendance at school during six months of the year of all children between the ages of seven and fourteen years. This rigid limitation seems unnecessarily arbitrary, and in other respects unwise. It is doubtful whether, in our climate at least, children are not more hurt than benefited by being put to books at so tender an age as seven, and many competent observers have declared their conviction that the tasks which a child is forced to learn before its mind is tolerably mature, add nothing to its mental growth, but tend rather to retard its physical powers. Unhealthy precocity is so common, and so frequently fatal among American children, that our efforts should be directed rather to set back than to anticipate the period of mental maturity. Most children with us, of any brightness, teach themselves to read, and otherwise astonish their fond parents by a phenomenal intellectual activity which is too often followed and explained by an early decay. Precisely at what age a child's mind becomes strong enough to bear the strain of cultivation, it is not easy to fix. Perhaps it is safe to say that up to the age of ten years, at least, the little learner should be put to only the lightest and most desultory tasks.

Doubtless this will seem an extraordinary view to many, who have so long been used to the cramming and forcing system of education in vogue among us, as to believe it the only true one. But waiving this point, there is another objection to the Pennsylvania bill which is equally strong, and which will strike most parents with even greater force. The question of the comparative advantages of home and school education, discussed as long ago as QUINTILIAN's time, has been practically decided, so far, at least, as boys in their teens are concerned, in favor of the schools. But for some years after the age of seven, the child is probably best and most safely instructed at home. His moral character is then in process of formation, and that no teacher can mold so well or so wisely as a tender and pious mother, and a prudent father. To be sure, many children are unhappily not blessed with such parents as these, and many more again have no homes. For these, at least for the latter, the school at any age is undoubtedly better than the streets, though a good reformatory institution, wisely modeled and carefully conducted, would be better still. But for children whose home influences are salutary and happy, the law should make some discrimination. The laws of Pennsylvania do not directly concern us, but each success or failure of the compulsory education system does. Wherever it is tested, we should like to see it tested on its merits, and not weighted with needlessly-offensive restrictions.

The Response from the Country.

The comments made by the country upon the great reform meeting held at the Cooper Institute last Thursday is encouraging, inasmuch as it denotes wide-spread interest. But it likewise conveys grave admonition. When Mr. EVARTS said, "It will no longer be a pride, but a shame and disgrace, to be a New-Yorker, if New-Yorkers cannot lift themselves out of the infamy into which they have sunk," he anticipated the warning which the respectable Press throughout the country has now echoed back to the Metropolis. Our citizens should realize the full significance of this. Submission to base and dishonest government inevitably entails a share in the disgrace of it. It is worse than folly for people to shrug their shoulders at the rascalities of Tammany, and pass on, saying it is very bad, but they cannot help it. The country says you can, and must, and ought to help it. The country feels that this stigma of rascality and misrule is doing the whole community great injury all over the world. It is impossible that it should be otherwise. New-York may not be the United States, as Paris was France; but she is at least so in a financial sense.

This is everywhere known; and when a definite and imposing step is taken toward a reform of the abuses under which we suffer, the country responds substantially as follows: "We rejoice that you, the respectable community of New-York, are at last not only alive to the shameful condition of things around and about you, but that you profess a willingness to take practical action to remedy it. You on the spot are not the only sufferers, and our feeling in the matter is not one of mere sentiment alone. We feel and know that the whole nation is implicated in the scandal, that all the people are participators in the injury. Perhaps you are not altogether aware of the despicable figure which is presented by a community, theoretically free, but yet voluntarily submitting to monstrous abuses such as those that now override you. It is not easy to see ourselves as others see us. Therefore we, your brethren, the indirect sufferers from these evils as you are the direct ones, will take the opportunity afforded by this meeting to tell you a little wholesome truth. New-York is fast becoming the by-word and scorn of all America. Corruption does not go backward any more than revolution does. Unchecked, it spreads like a cancer to infect and strike ruin to the whole body-politic. Already this disease, beginning in New-York, has extended to Albany. We now see plainly that it threatens to extend to Washington. You who are on the spot can, if you will, prevent this; and we see with joy that you declare you mean to try. This is well; but you must act as well as talk. You must be up and doing, for the enemy already has knowledge of your intentions, and will prepare to baffle them."

Such is the general sentiment and hope of the people outside New-York, as conveyed through their best representatives. It is the duty of our leading citizens to respond to that sentiment. The fair fame of the City is, to some extent, the fair fame of the country, and the obligation which rests upon us of vindicating it does not depend upon the expediency of correcting local abuses alone. That public feeling is at last aroused, that some fitting sense of the humiliation of our position as inhabitants of the capital of the continent is at least emphatically expressed, is, of course, a good point gained. But without underrating the importance of this, we must remember that, having regard to practical results, nothing is done until all is done. A spirit of restlessness under our present misgovernment is unquestionably abroad. There is a strong disposition among thinking men to resist the usurpations of cliques, the tyrannies of corporations, and the unwarrantable extortions of selfish capitalists. The tendency to make the good of the many subservient to the good of the few, a tendency strikingly opposed to the spirit of our institutions, has grown of late so notorious, and has been pushed with such audacity, as to excite great fears. These have found different forms of expression, but they must find, to be effectual, persistent and stronger forms.

Nothing short of energetic and unremitting effort on the part of all well-disposed people will bring us to the goal of reform; and this effort should be led and inspired by prominent merchants and other citizens of stainless repute. It is not a question of party, for party is of less consequence than good government. We are glad to see honest Democrats join hands with honest Republicans in this matter. Conspicuous and life-long Democrats were active at the Cooper Institute meeting, and before this fight is over there will be plenty more of that party on the same side. What is wanted is ceaseless agitation, active personal efforts to induce the apathetic and influential to engage in the strife, and a useful application of that public opinion which the Press—albeit, as Judge BARRETT says, in a "noble minority"—can be depended upon to create.

With these aids, all wholesome and upright reforms can surely be attained. A pure Bench, an honest use of public money, transportation both in City and State with some fair regard to the people's interests, as well as those of the capitalists, cleanly streets, and the firm repression of the army of criminals, thieves, gamblers, and the like, who now run riot with impunity by virtue of their party claims—all these, and other good ends, we can battle for and secure. Such fruits of victory may seem at the moment too great to be realized, but history is made fast in these days, and just as the slave-holder's rebellion was grappled with and crushed, so may be the very worst section of the slave-holder's Northern allies. The present task will demand, it is true, much of the same perseverance and inflexible resolution that were required for the discharge of the former one, and these we hope and feel sure will not be looked for in vain.

The Universal Republic.

We have more than once adverted to the growing significance of the great Democratic federation originated by MAZZINI, and known to the outside world as "the Universal Republic." Like other dreams of the Italian revolutionary thinker and arch-conspirator, it has outlived the time when it was laughed at, and now begins to make itself feared. GARIBALDI's soldiers fought in the Vosges under its banner, and the insurgents of Paris have issued their manifestoes in its name. It has fairly emerged upon the stage of history as a principle and a system, and brief as the present sovereignty of the Communists may be in Paris, this struggle is but the first outburst of a new force that may shake every monarchy in Europe before it has spent its volcanic energy, and found its true place in politics. Several months ago we said that the time was approaching for the fulfillment of the premature utterance of MAZZINI: "The wars of the dynasties have ended, the wars of the people are about to begin." The more we see of the plans and professions of the Parisian Communists, the more apparent it becomes that they are not merely the birth of a period of national chaos and administrative impotence, but form the first decided advance of a great democratic crusade. Whether with due understanding and appreciation or not, the body of artisans and political bohemians who called themselves the Central Committee, promulgated doctrines coined by some of the most daring thinkers of Europe. The detailed report just received of the terms in which they delegated a portion of their powers to the newly-elected members of the Commune, gives ample evidence of this. The sentiment of country is for the first time in great political movements set aside; the sentiment of class appears for the first time as a revolutionary power. The mediæval Commune, self-contained and self-governed, is to be the basis of a new charter of municipal liberties. "Federated with the Communes of France who have already liberated themselves, Paris will, in its own name and in the name of Lyons, Marseilles, and soon, perhaps, of ten other cities, consider the clauses of the contract which shall unite them with the nation, and state the ultimate terms of the treaty which they may agree to sign." Such is the language held by the official journal of the Insurgent Committee. France is to be treated with as a separate power, and the only attachment expressed to their common country is by reason of its affording a promising basis for a Communist propaganda, which is defined as having for its principles "the spirit of order, of progress and of justice, that is to say, of revolution."

Readers of Lothair may, in the light of recent events, be coming round to the opinion that the Madre Natura was not a piece of political romancing after all. Substitute for "Mary Anne" the Commune, and for the political, social, and religious organization of DISRAELI's book the federation of great cities, i. e., of artisan voters, which is the first practicable stage of the universal Republic—and there is a key to a great political movement of which we are only witnessing the beginnings. International congresses of working men at Basle and elsewhere have, of late years, propounded amid general amusement ambitious schemes for the reconstruction of Europe on a democratic basis. It was freely admitted that in France universal suffrage would not serve their turn. For, as M. CLEMENT DUVERNOIS, in a manifesto recently published in the interests of NAPOLEON III., defines the party that is prepared to abide by the united expression of the national will: "In England we should be Tories, and in France we are Democrats, because in England property is concentrated, while in France it is divided." The insurrection of the Communists is a protest against the conservative tendencies of the country voters, and an appeal to an assumed solidarity of interests, first among all the working men of France, and next of all Europe—with a present exception against the Germans.

The revolt is, therefore, a social, quite as much as a political one. Like most social rebellions, it is the product of industrial distress, and of the bleak prospect for the future that presents itself to the French laborer. The artificial production stimulated by the Empire has collapsed, and the thousands of idle men to be found in the streets of Paris have, like most ignorant economists, a belief in the sovereign efficacy of state aid in placing labor upon a proper footing. The English Chartists believed that the acceptance of their five points would act like a charm upon depressed manufactures and famine prices of bread. According to the testimony of a Parisian, "the Commune is a magic word among our insurgents, a veritable talisman which must heal all the evils from which they suffer, even those which are most directly derived from the vices and the misconduct of individuals." It may be as the same critic alleges, that "the success of the Committee demonstrates once more that in France the vaguest words are the most potent." It is clear, all the same, that the new political creed will survive its approaching subjugation to the armed force of the Assembly, and will add another to the many distracting forces that will render the France of the future the political powder-magazine of Europe.

Buying and Selling at Albany.

The plans of the Democratic masters of the Legislature are all out of joint through "JIM" IRVING's little mistake. A few days since, the magnates of the "Ring" were in high glee; everything was propitious; the party was well in hand, and obeying without question the nod of the "Boss;" the Registry law was so amended as to render null the Election laws passed by Congress to secure purity of the ballot; the Two per Cent. Tax Levy bill, by which money was to be raised from the tax-payers of the City of New-York for the election of a Democratic President in 1872, was well on its way. It had passed the Senate, and was to be "put through" the Assembly under the party lash. Now, both will fail, unless some Republican can be found base enough to sell his vote to aid the passage of the laws intended to perpetuate in this State the power of Tammany. It is to be regretted that there is anything in the practices of legislators to suggest the idea that the "Ring" may force its measures through the Legislature by sheer corruption. It is, however, a notorious fact that votes are a favorite marketable commodity at Albany.

TWEED and SWEENY have time and again disavowed political connection with IRVING, giving as a reason for their seeming countenance of him that he was so strong in his district that it was impossible to defeat him. It was, however, unnecessary to place him on the "Ring" ticket for Alderman. The strength of IRVING in his district did not extend to the whole City. In procuring the resignation of IRVING, TWEED was not prompted by any motive of justice, or deference to public opinion. He was driven to the wall, and forced to choose between two alternatives. Either IRVING must be expelled or Mr. WEED, and, perhaps, some others of the country members would resign. To get rid of IRVING was the best chance. TWEED has now announced that he can have half a dozen Republican votes to pass his bills if required. This is mere bravado. The iniquity of the bills before the Legislature has been thoroughly exposed, and if Republicans vote for them, it can only be because they have been bribed. NATHANIEL SANDS (price $10,000 a year, besides "perquisites") and PETER COOPER tried to win Republican Senators to the support of the Two per Cent. Tax bill, and failed. The attempt of TWEED to corrupt members of the Assembly should meet with no more success than the Citizens' Association achieved with Senators. There can hardly be found a man so anxious to brand himself a traitor as to accept the gold of the "Ring," in the vain hope of escaping the punishment of his crime by hiding behind NATHANIEL SANDS.

MINOR TOPICS.

It is satisfactory to find that the Legislature has unanimously approved the report of the Investigating Committee on the Weed-Irving scandal. IRVING was doubtless pretty well advised that he would only provoke a resolution of expulsion by remaining in the House. The condemnatory terms of the present report, though wasted upon the individual who is the object of them, may possibly act as a salutary reminder to other members of the New-York delegation, that though a man may literally fight his way to Albany, pugilistic ability cannot find a legitimate sphere on the floor of the Assembly. Our correspondence indicates that the present balance of parties will cause the abandonment of the infamous two per cent. tax-levy scheme. The usual tax levy that will take its place may probably involve swindles of great proportions, but then we shall have been directly cheated by our own representatives, and shall, accordingly, have a more immediate remedy at hand.

The Commune is making a stubborn fight in and around Paris. The Assembly is clearly not yet in possession of a force large and reliable enough for the difficult task they have got in hand. The breach made in the Porte Maillot has been successfully repaired by the insurgents, and the entry into Paris of the Versailles troops is yet again postponed. Every day that the Reds continue to hold the capital will make the task of keeping down their sympathisers in Lyons, Marseilles, and elsewhere, a more difficult one. M. THIERS and his colleagues are on their trial, and unless their confident manifestoes are followed by vigorous acts and tangible successes, they will find it hard to maintain much longer their hold upon France.

Superintendent KELSO has issued a new manual of etiquette for the City Police force. A patrolman must, henceforward, give the approved military salute on meeting any member of the half-dozen superior grades of officials, and on coming into the awful presence of the Commissioners, the Superintendent, or the Inspectors, "members of the force will salute by removing their caps." We trust that our patrolmen will not feel disposed to take revenge for all this rather cumbrous ceremonial by failing in their accustomed courtesy to citizens who may desire their help or counsel. It is just possible that members of the force may be tempted to forget that they are after all the servants of the community, and not actually paid out of the pockets of the gentlemen who demand so many demonstrations of respect.

The debate on the Deficiency bill gave an opportunity to the Democracy for indulging in the usual vilification of the Administration and the Republican Party. The changes were rung upon extravagance, usurpation, centralization and exorbitant taxes. Give us the power, say they, and we will abolish all taxes, except those on tobacco, spirituous and malt liquors—albeit free rum is a Democratic principle—and reduce the tariff to the lowest revenue point. We have pointed out in another article the true value of this promise. The City of New-York is and has been for years under Democratic rule, and each year the taxes are increased. Here the Democrats have a free field in which to practice their teachings. If they would avail themselves of it, reduce the taxes, and administer the affairs of the City with economy, then some faith might be placed in their promises. With New-York City as an example of taxation, and the management of the canal as one of economy, the people will be likely to estimate the professions of the Democrats in Congress at their proper worth.

From the latest advices it will be seen that the mining troubles are as far as ever from settlement. The meeting between the operators and committee of miners adjourned yesterday, without arriving at any agreement. The Working Men's Benevolent Association refuse to accept the terms proposed by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, and the road refuses to offer any better. A general gloom pervades the whole community, and fears are entertained of further riotous proceedings. No attempt has been made at resumption, and three of the rioters of last week were arrested and held for trial, the leaders of the Working Men's Benevolent Association becoming bail for them. The matter can have but one termination. The miners will be compelled to yield; work must be resumed in some of the mines as soon as men have resolved not to starve, or permit their families to do so, at the command of an organization, no matter how powerful.

The warm weather which prevailed on Monday, during the progress of the peace procession through the City Hall Park, afforded an opportunity for testing the durability of the "Ring" poultice pavement. It is almost unnecessary to say that it proved to be no better than the vile stuff that caused so much annoyance to the residents of Fifth-avenue in 1869. The horses' hoofs and carriage-wheels cut it up so badly that all the efforts of the laborers yesterday failed to restore the even surface, which it was hoped might remain until the rest of the walks had been coated with the same costly material.

The cotton crop now arriving at the cotton ports of the South, promises to be the largest since the famous one of 1859-60. The Savannah Republican, basing its estimate on the number of bales already received, says that the crop will reach 3,750,000 to 4,000,000 bales. By reason of its increased railroad connections, Savannah is fast taking position as one of the principal cotton ports of the South. This large crop establishes the facts that the freedman is willing to work, and that the land, being divided among a large number, is more carefully cultivated.

St. Andrew's Sunday-School Fair—A Very Attractive Exhibition.

A Fair was opened, last evening, in the new Sunday-school attached to St. Andrews' Protestant Episcopal Church, One Hundred and Twenty-eighth-street, near Fourth-avenue. The Fair is under the auspices of a committee of ladies, and the proceeds are to be applied toward furnishing the new building with suitable furniture. Up to Sunday last the Sunday-school had been held in the basement of the church, but on Easter Sunday the worthy pastor, Rev. GEO. B. DRAPER, had the pleasure of welcoming 400 pupils to the new building, which is fitted up with all modern improvements. It is a two-story brick building, sixty feet long by forty feet in width, and has cost $18,000, the greater part of which has been contributed by MR. DRAPER's parishioners.

The Fair, judging from the attendance last evening, promises to be a success. It is well supplied with all articles usually found in such places; fancy articles of every description, perfumery, confectionery, books and stationery, children's dresses, dolls, worsted work, besides many articles of a more useful and substantial nature, such as chairs valued at $100 each, a gilt mounted table, valued at $150, an elegant piano stool, a gilt hat-rack, sewing-machines, music boxes, and a cast-iron gilt flower stand, worth $75.

The Committee of Lady Managers are most active in promoting the success of the Fair. They are: Mrs. E. [illegible], President; Mrs. George Richmond, Mrs. E. A. Holmes, Mrs. W. T. Ryerson, and Mrs. W. H. Williams.

The refreshment department is in charge of Mrs. W. H. WILLIAMS and Mrs. D. D. DRAPER, and the floral temple, in the centre of the large room, is most appropriately presided over by two very handsome and fascinating young ladies—Miss BRIGGS and Miss MARVIN—who inaugurated, last evening, a thriving trade in the floral department.

A novel feature in the Fair is a handsome tree laden with Easter eggs, which vanish rapidly at the rate of ten cents each. There is an art gallery in connection with the Fair, which is well worthy of a visit.

The Superintendent of the school is Mr. WALTER T. MARRIN, and the Treasurer is Mr. W. H. WILLIAMS.

The Fair will remain open until Friday next.

FOURTEENTH-STREET THEATRE.

Under the auspices of Miss LAURA KEENE, the doors of the theatre in Fourteenth-street were, last night, once more thrown open for a season of English drama. The house has been so dismally unlucky of late that the experiment is naturally regarded with some doubt. Theatre-goers are peculiarly the creatures of habit, and it is not easy to entice even our salient and novelty-loving public out of beaten ways. The Fourteenth-street Theatre is however convenient, pretty, and in fact near to a large number of fashionable dwellings and hotels. Without entering into the various reasons for the prejudice, we yet merely give voice to a common conviction when we say that the theatre is exceedingly unpopular. Still Miss KEENE is so well esteemed, both as artist and manager, that it has been felt if any one could bring up the prestige of a declining property she might do so. To accomplish this desirable result she last night offered a variety of attractions, of which a new tragedian of English reputation, and a new play from a known and clever hand, were made most conspicuous.

Mr. CRESWICK, the tragedian in question, is new, we should explain, only in a relative sense. Years ago Mr. CRESWICK was known and esteemed in this country, and, at the old Tremont Theatre, in Boston, was at one time a great favorite. Since then he has acted chiefly in England, and for a number of seasons has been lessee of that famous temple of high-seasoned theatricals, the London Surrey. Mr. CRESWICK was always acknowledged, in fact, to be an excellent actor of melodrama. Yet his position in the higher walks has not been disputed, and in various Shakespearean characters he has been warmly praised by competent critics. In the part of Joe, in "Nobody's Child," Mr. CRESWICK is exceedingly effective. He shows in it the valuable fruits of ripe experience grafted upon undeniable natural aptitude. His performance is strong, natural and in parts exceedingly pathetic. He "fills the stage" in a manner possible to very few; and his grasp upon the sympathy and attention of the audience is never for a moment relaxed. We consider Mr. CRESWICK's debut on this occasion to have been decidedly successful. He was cordially received by the public, repeatedly cheered during the performance, and called before the curtain to receive the general congratulations.

Miss KEENE is a consummate artist in all she undertakes, and her acting as Miss Patty Lawrock is at many points another illustration of the familiar truth. In her double capacity of directress and actress she received, last evening, abundant tokens of approval and encouragement, and certainly assisted to make prosperous the occasion as hardly any lady known to us could have done. Some blemishes in Miss KEENE's performance, attributable, no doubt, to the excitement and anxiety of opening with a new company in a new character and with a heavy burden of responsibility on her shoulders, will doubtless be corrected in future representations. The company gathered to support the chief artists is, so far as can be judged from their opening efforts, of rather ordinary calibre. The scenery and other appointments are exceedingly creditable, and the "set" of the second act, in which Joe descends into the ravine and is assisted to the surface by Patty, was loudly applauded.

Of "Nobody's Child" as a literary production there is not much to be said. It is of rather a conventional type of romantic drama, although certainly endowed with some rather novel and striking incidents, and although the character of Joe is by no means destitute of freshness and originality. When Mr. WATTS PHILLIPS first began to write for the stage he passed through an unusual experience. He failed because his work was so good. Had it been more sketchy and superficial it might have been much more successful. His "Joseph Chavigny" was a signal instance of this. The drama was taken from the French, no doubt, but it displayed notwithstanding a great deal of creative power, a deep yet delicate knowledge of human nature, and an unusual fineness of touch. In spite of this, and in spite of the superlatively good acting of Mr. BENJAMIN WEBSTER, as the scoundrelly hero—who was backed, too, in the manner dear to Adelphi audiences by a characteristic ruffian intrusted to PAUL BEDFORD—"Joseph Chavigny" failed. It was the victim of over-elaboration and too much subtlety of thought. It is easy to see how the author of such a piece might resolve not to shoot over the heads of his public in future. Accordingly, "Nobody's Child" comes to us as a "grand sensation drama," and aims to win success by devices that would hardly have been employed some time back by the author of "Joseph Chavigny." Still, it contains many of the surest elements of popularity, and when acted and directed by so thorough a master of his art as Mr. CRESWICK it will always delight a general audience. This certainly was the case last night, and if the people can be induced to go to the Fourteenth-street Theatre at all, it may well be the case for many nights to come.

MISS DEMOREST'S CONCERT.

Miss VIENNA DEMOREST's concert at Steinway Hall occurs this evening. The young lady will be assisted by Mlle. TEDESCA, by Mr. J. R. THOMAS, and by Mr. W. J. HILL.

MISS RENZ'S CONCERTS.

Miss CASSIE RENZ, a young songstress from Philadelphia, is to give two concerts at Steinway Hall, one on Monday and the other on Saturday next. Miss RENZ has a voice of vast range, for in a cadenza to the air "Caro Nome," from "Rigoletto," it attains to the G sharp in altissimo. She will have, on the occasions mentioned, the co-operation of Miss ADELAIDE PHILLIPS, of Signor LEONI, and of Signor RONCONI, and a full orchestra under Mr. BERGMANN will also be heard.

Wrongs of Working Men—Strange Story About the Harlem Court-House Job.

The working men engaged in the construction of the new Harlem Court-house, at the corner of Sixth-avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-eighth-street, have "struck," on account of their employers' refusal to reduce their time of labor to eight hours a day. The men make loud complaints about the injustice with which they have been treated. They say that they were compelled to do overwork without receiving any extra pay, being kept at work ten hours instead of eight, which is the usual time on State and City jobs. The strangest story of their grievances, however, is the assertion by some of them that they have been obliged within the past few months to knock off work on the Court-house by order of Superintendent SCALLON, who has detailed many of them at different times to help erect the new private dwelling now being built for State Senator HENRY G. GENET, who is one of the Court-house Commissioners, at the corner of Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth-street. The working men aver that the same contractors who furnish material for the Court-house also supply GENET's building, and that the labor which they have performed on the latter structure was paid for out of the Court-house fund. The impression which the working men's statement is designed to create is, that GENET's house is being put up, in whole or in part at the expense of the City. The Commissioners for the Court-house, which was commenced in October last, are GENET and Justices MCQUADE and PORTER. Those who have struck against the alleged oppressive measures of the "bosses" number about 130 persons, in which are included stone-cutters, masons and laborers. They propose to resort to the Courts for redress.

WASHINGTON.

Facts and Fictions About the New-York Appointments.

The Kuklux Bill in the Senate—The House Employed on the Deficiency Bill—Various Matters.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Senator CONKLING had read in the Senate today a dispatch from this city to the New-York Tribune of last Saturday, which pretended to give an account of the proceedings in Executive Session at the time of the confirmation of the late appointments at New-York. He denied the truthfulness of the dispatch in any particular, and his statement was made in the presence of his fellow Senators, who, being acquainted with the facts, acknowledged their truth by remaining silent. Mr. CONKLING's denial of the Tribune dispatch was in general terms, since the rules of the Senate compelled him to remain silent as to what was actually done in the session, and only allowed him to tell what did not take place. The TIMES of Monday gave all the facts of any importance in this case, but Mr. CONKLING's statement having called renewed attention to it, some further particulars are proper to be given. The Tribune dispatch referred to, contained two classifications of Republican Senators, the first list being of Senators whom, it stated, were either absent, or being present, refused to vote. It was as follows: Ames, Buckingham, Cragin, Fenton, Ferry of Michigan, Hitchcock, Logan, Morrill of Maine, Norton, Paterson, Pomeroy, Pool, Ramsey, Rice, Schurz, Scott, Sherman, Sumner, Tipton, Trumbull, Wilson, Windom. Now the truth is that eight at least of the Senators in this list were present and voted, and voted for confirming the nominations, too, for no Republican voted in opposition. It should be remembered that the roll was called only on Mr. DARLING's confirmation, which was first decided. These eight were the following: Ames, Buckingham, Ferry of Michigan, Hitchcock, Logan, Pomeroy, Pool and Scott. The Tribune dispatch further says: "The following-named Senators spoke or were otherwise prominent in opposing the change: Buckingham, Cragin, Fenton, Logan, Morrill, Morton, Patterson, Schurz, Scott, Sumner, Wilson." The statement is false, except in relation to Fenton, Patterson, Schurz, Sumner and Wilson, who sat in their seats and refused to vote, in the vain hope of breaking up a quorum on that day. Buckingham, Logan and Scott voted for the confirmation as stated above. MORTON took no part on either side, and on the day when the vote was taken was confined to his room by sickness all day. Whether the MORRILL mentioned is of Vermont or Maine is uncertain, but neither of them opposed the change. CRAGIN left the Senate early in the session, and neither opposed nor favored the change in any way, but says he should probably have voted for confirmation had he been present.

MR. MUDGETT'S RESIGNATION.

In view of the statements contained in Mr. B. F. MUDGETT's letter of resignation as to the reasons why his appointment was distasteful to the President, it is proper to state that those reasons are on file in the Treasury Department in the shape of documents, which satisfy the President that his appointment was not a proper one to be made. These documents have been on file a long time, but were not known to Secretary BOUTWELL until after he approved the nomination.]

THE KUKLUX BILL.

Mr. EDMUNDS began the discussion on the Kuklux bill, as it is called in the Senate, this morning, by explaining its provisions and the amendments proposed by the Judiciary Committee. Mr. AMES followed in a speech which was pretty strongly personal in its references to BLAIR, and paid him back in his own coin, as he deserved. AMES proved that as a carpet-bagger BLAIR has, as Billings would say, few equals and no superiors. If being a carpet-bagger is a disgrace, FRANK BLAIR is disgraced forever. Mr. JOHNSON, of Virginia, spoke about an hour and a half against the bill, and was followed by Mr. STOCKTON, of New-Jersey, on the same side, in a set speech. The speech of the day, however, was Mr. TRUMBULL's, who followed STOCKTON, and spoke till adjournment. Mr. TRUMBULL thinks there is law enough now. He would go as far as the furthest to sustain the authority of the United States, but is not in favor of entering the States to punish one person for violating the rights of another. He claims that the bill, as framed, undertakes to punish persons for violating State laws, without reference to the Constitution and laws of the United States. He preferred the bill as it came from the House without the amendments of the Committee, which he claims change the entire scope of the bill, making it objectionable in many respects. During a portion of Mr. TRUMBULL's speech there occurred a running debate, participated in by Messrs. EDMUNDS, CARPENTER, THURMAN, and himself, which was sharp and interesting. His argument will doubtless be replied to by Mr. EDMUNDS, who was observed to take notes during the speech.

EARLIER TO WORK.

The Senate has decided to meet hereafter at 11 o'clock, and there are still confident expressions of adjournment the first of next week.

THE AMNESTY BILL.

The House Amnesty bill came into the Senate this morning, and Mr. ROBERTSON gave notice of his intention to press it to a vote, but there are no indications that he will succeed this session.

BLODGETT AND GOLDTHWAITE.

The cases of BLODGETT and GOLDTHWAITE were laid on the table this morning by a vote of 19 to 17, and they will not come up again till the Kuklux bill is decided at least.

DISTRICT POLITICS.

The Republicans of the District met in the various wards to-night and nominated candidates for the House of Delegates. The men selected in most instances are such as will add strength to the Republican nomination for delegate in the Ninth District, which has a large white majority, and embodies much of the wealth of the city. The Republicans nominated A. S. SOLOMONS, Esq., of the well-known firm of PHILP & SOLOMON's, an old and popular resident, who will undoubtedly be elected.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

The House today was wholly devoted to the Deficiency bill, and indulged in about three hours general debate, during which Mr. DAWES made fun of Washington's proposed park, and Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, made a revenue reform speech, in which he showed that there would be the next fiscal year a surplus revenue of at least $100,000,000 to which extent the tariff could afford reduction. About a dozen of the Senate amendments were concurred in, and the remainder, about fifty, will be disagreed to to-morrow, when the bill will pass.

LEGAL-TENDER CASES.

To-morrow the Supreme Court will hear the argument in the reopening of the legal-tender cases, which has been decided in the affirmative, Judges NELSON, CLIFFORD and FIELD dissenting. The cases which come up to furnish the abstract questions for argument are KNOX vs. LEE from Texas, and PARKER vs. DAVIS, from Massachusetts. The question will be as before, viz., the constitutionality of the law as to preexisting contracts, and likewise as to contracts subsequent to its enactment. The Attorney-General will appear for the Government, in support of the constitutionality of the law, and Hon. CLARKSON N. POTTER will appear on the opposite side. But one argument on each side will be heard.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

SPAIN AND THE PACIFIC REPUBLICS.

The armistice between Spain and the Pacific Republics was signed today at the Department of State. The conditions are: First—The armistice cannot come to an end unless notification to that effect has been given three years before hostilities may be resumed. This is equivalent to peace. Second—Trade is to be resumed at once between the belligerents as well as neutrals. Third—Negotiations for a final peace are to begin next week.

THE PRESIDENT AT MOUNT VERNON.

The President, accompanied by the members of his family, left Washington today for Mount Vernon, where they intend passing a few hours on a private visit to the tomb of WASHINGTON.

THE NEW BANK NOTES.

The proofs of the backs of the new funded loan bonds were received at the Treasury Department today from the Continental Bank Note Company, and were at once accepted, and the Secretary issued an order for their delivery, which will commence within a week.

GOVERNMENT EXPENSES.

The following is a statement of the expenditures of the Government for the quarter ending March 31, 1871:

Civil and miscellaneous	$15,921,311 51
War	7,892,800 33
Navy	4,448,943 96
Indians	1,081,290 44
Pensions	7,737,856 42
Interest on public debt	36,332,558 76
Total	$73,414,761 42

FORTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

SENATE....WASHINGTON, Tuesday, April 11.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock, and will, during the remainder of the session, meet at the same hour.

The resolution to admit Messrs. BLODGETT and GOLDTHWAITE was laid on the table—yeas 19, nays 17.

THE NEW-YORK APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. CONKLING, of New-York, obtaining leave to make a personal explanation, caused to be read the Washington dispatch in the New-York Tribune of Saturday, April 8, relative to the recent New-York appointments and supposed doings and votes in the Executive Session of the Senate, and then made the following statement: The same journal of the two preceding days published Washington dispatches touching the same subject, which were also widely incorrect, and which gave speeches erroneously supposed to have been made in Executive Session. I will not detain the Senate by reading them. Were these reports unfounded only in particulars relating to me I should, as usual, allow them to pass in silence, as I did the other day when a newspaper stated editorially that I attempted, by disorderly vociferation and clamor, to arrest the proceedings of the Senate. I call attention to them, however, on account of their general statements. We have a rule which forbids the disclosure of the executive proceedings of the Senate, and, therefore, I cannot, as explicitly as I would, show how wide the reports are from the facts. The rule, however, makes inviolate only what does occur in Executive Session, not what does not occur. I may say, therefore, that the acts, utterances and proceedings thus related, did not take place, and also that the vote and the classification of Senators are alike erroneous. This, perhaps, is as far as the rule will permit me to go. I wish I were at liberty to state affirmatively what was said and done, and doubtless the correspondents who relied on upon information so mistaken will be glad to make note of this denial, now made in the hearing of the Senate.

REVENUE REFORM.

Mr. SHERMAN, of Ohio, offered the following:

That the Committee on Finance is hereby instructed, during the recess of Congress, to carefully examine the existing system of taxation, with a view to propose such amendments to the bill of the House repealing certain taxes, now pending in the Senate, as will simplify and reduce both the internal taxes and the duties on imported goods now in force, and in such manner that the aggregate of such taxes shall not exceed the sums required to execute the laws relating to the public debt, and the current expenditures of the Government, administered with the strictest economy, so that the taxes may be distributed to impose the least possible burden upon the people.

Mr. CASSERLY, of California, asked to have the resolution lay over until to-morrow.

Mr. COLE, of California, hoped the Committee would include in their examination a repeal of the income tax. He did not suppose there would be any objection to the resolution.

Mr. SHERMAN said the resolution represented the views of every member of the Finance Committee. The income tax, he thought, was already covered by it. It would give the Committee jurisdiction of a subject with which they would naturally be charged at the next session.

Mr. CASSERLY did not think there would be any objection to the resolution, but desired to have until to-morrow to consider it. The resolution was accordingly laid over.

THE AMNESTY BILL.

The General Amnesty bill, passed yesterday by the House, was received from that body, read twice, and laid on the table.

Mr. ROBERTSON, of South Carolina, gave notice that he would ask the Senate to take up the bill before the session of Congress ended.

Mr. EDMUNDS, of Vermont—Then I give notice I shall object.

Mr. ROBERTSON replied that he intended to see whether there was a majority of the Senate disposed to object.

THE KUKLUX BILL.

The Kuklux bill was then taken up.

Mr. EDMUNDS, of Vermont, explained that the amendments reported from the Judiciary Committee were not designed to change the scope of the bill, but to perfect it, so as to stand the test of the Courts, while making it more specific. The change of the limit for suspension of the habeas corpus from June 1, 1872, to the end of the next regular session of Congress, was agreed upon by the Committee as a measure of prudence. If left to expire at the time indicated, the minority might be fillibustering to prevent an extension of the provision. The Committee had thought best to take the bill substantially as it passed the House, though he himself had preferred a more stringent measure.

Mr. AMES, of Mississippi, spoke in verification of his statement of the condition of his State, and in reply to certain remarks by Mr. BLAIR, of Missouri, which he regarded as personal to himself and his late colleague, Mr. REVELS.

Mr. JOHNSTON, of Virginia, called attention to the deplorable financial condition of the South under Radical rule, the bad personal character of the Radical officials there, and the onerous Federal taxes which had almost ruined the people.

Mr. STOCKTON, of New-Jersey, delivered a long argument in review of the revolutionary and unconditional features of the bill, and the arguments upon which it was assumed to justify them.

Mr. TRUMBULL, of Illinois, opposed the amendments reported from the Judiciary Committee as making the bill obnoxious to the objection made to it in the House, that it went to the extent of punishing persons for violating State laws without any reference to the Constitution or laws of the United States. He did not think that even the Senator from Vermont (Mr. EDMUNDS) would assume that Congress should pass a general criminal code for the States of the Union. It was understood by the members of the House that the bill as passed by that body, went no further than to protect persons in the rights guaranteed to them by the Constitution and laws of the United States, and did not undertake to authorize one citizen of a State to assert his rights in the Federal Courts or in any other way against another in the same State. That such was the purpose of the bill was now urged as the pretext for the proposed amendments. After referring to the extent to which the bill had been enlarged by the Committee, Mr. TRUMBULL went on to combat the theory that under the recent constitutional amendment our Government had become centralized and its principles changed. He denied that the Fourteenth Amendment conferred any rights of citizenship not contained originally in the Constitution, while that amendment enabled Congress to protect a citizen from a discrimination against his rights by a State. It did not allow Congress to exercise Police powers to the destruction of State authority. Congress had no right to substitute the Federal for the State Courts. The latter were nearer the people, and the nearer the administration of justice between man and man was brought to the people themselves, the safer would be their rights in person and property. When the Federal Government took to itself the entire protection of the individual citizen of the State in his person and property, there would be an end to the State Government, resulting in an unwise change in our Governmental system. He then criticised each of the amendments and alluded to the danger to be apprehended in unnecessary and unjustifiable suspensions of the writs of habeas corpus.

Without a vote upon the bill, the Senate at 5½ adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. STEVENSON, of Ohio, presented a petition of citizens of Cincinnati for land warrants and equalization of bounties to soldiers.

GEN. SCHENCK'S SALARY.

On motion of Mr. RANDALL, of Pennsylvania, the Senate bill to pay ROBERT C. SCHENCK his salary as Minister to England was taken from the Speaker's table and passed.

THE TENNESSEE ELECTION.

Mr. MCCRARY, of Iowa, from the Committee on Elections, reported a resolution, declaring that the election for members of Congress, held in Tennessee on the 8th of November, 1870, was held on the day fixed by law, and was, therefore, not void; which was adopted.

MONUMENT TO GEN. LYON.

On motion of Mr. WELLS, the Senate bill donating condemned cannon for the erection of a monument to the late Brig.-Gen. NATHANIEL LYON in Missouri, was taken from the Speaker's table and passed.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL—TAXATION.

The House then proceeded to a consideration of the Senate amendments to the Deficiency bill.

Mr. DAWES, of Massachusetts, proceeded to explain the amendments and the action of the Select Committee, to which they had been referred. He said that he himself had introduced the bill originally in the absence of an Appropriation Committee, from which it could have been reported. It contained one item of $5,000 voted at the close of last session to a member of the House, who was not entitled to a dollar; and some other items rendered necessary by the action of Congress in its last hours. For instance, Congress had created the office of Assistant Attorney-General, but had made no appropriation to pay the salary. So, it had granted pensions to the surviving soldiers of the war of 1812, but had made no provision to pay them. These, with one or two other items, made up the bill, as introduced by him and passed by the House. In the Senate other legitimate items were added to it, and if the Senate had stopped there, there would have been no occasion for a lengthy debate; but, in addition to those amendments, there were other amendments covering almost all the defeated appropriations of the last session; projects, some of them corrupt and some simply extravagant and profligate, which had been strangled at the last session. To those had been added several new schemes, because the longer Congress was in session the greater would be the number of such schemes. The genius of man was fertile, and his inclination prompted him ever to be at work in devising new schemes of plunder on the public treasury. If Congress remained in session a week or a month, the last day would be as fruitful as the first in new plans and schemes for spoliating the Treasury. There was another class of amendments in the bill that were of a very serious character and which were generally styled independent legislation. The Committee had recommended non-concurrence in them, and he urged the House to indorse that recommendation. One of these amendments was for the paving of Pennsylvania-avenue, from Fifteenth-street to Georgetown, a work which would cost the Government $94,000, and would cost the property-owners $200,000. He recommended that instead of that proposition there should be an appropriation of $10,000 made to put the present pavement in repair. Another of the Senate propositions was to establish a magnificent public park in Washington, with splendid bridges and sparkling fountains and grand obelisks, sweeping out of existence the filthy canal, full of dead men's bones and other uncleanness. Mr. DAWES exhibited to the House a plan of the proposed park, and caused much laughter by his description of it. Another proposition was for the reprinting of the national currency, but as the House at the last session had laid on the table a bill for that purpose, the Committee recommended nonconcurrence.

Mr. COX, of New-York addressed the House in condemnation of all Deficiency bills, as they were the result of extravagance, and of a bad system of revenue. Deficiency bills were proofs of unthrift; they were frauds on the people. Frugality required neither large supplies nor deficiency. The war legislation had led Congress into extravagance. Let the surplus remain in the people's pockets, and not for Treasury leeches to suck at. He was opposed to paying off the debt in such a hurry. They should recruit their energies, and thus the national credit will be preserved best. He was for revenue tariff only. It was bad enough to pay revenue for heavy outlays. It was worse when the burdens were badly distributed. He referred to the tea and coffee repeal, and the demagogue attempts to abolish the internal revenue system in order to raise more means by the insidious and legalized robberies of a protective tariff. But since the vote yesterday he was satisfied that the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. KELLEY) was not in a minority; while only five Democrats voted against the revenue tariff resolution, only twelve Republicans voted for it, and all the rest voted with their party. The Democracy was for reform, and the Republican Party against it. Why should the Democracy relieve the people? When they asked for such relief they were answered by a Kuklux howl; but this issue of a revenue tariff, made by the New-York State Convention, would be the issue of 1872.

Mr. BECK, of Kentucky, explained the necessity of some of the items of the bill. He condemned the action of the Senate in increasing the amount from $50,000 to $1,500,000. There were two items not alluded to by Mr. DAWES, which he wished to call attention to. One was an item of $250,000, to feed five bands of Indians. He did not know how the House could get clear of that appropriation, without the danger of an Indian war. Another was an item of $206,000 for the life-saving stations of the New-Jersey and Long Island coasts, and the House could not get clear of that.

Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, remarked that the Government was now raising a surplus revenue of $100,000,000 beyond what was necessary for the expenses of the Government, and that the natural result was to tempt the House and the country and the lobby to demand enormous appropriations. He held it to be the duty of the House to look at the revenue and the resources of the country, and at the public debt, as statesmen should do, and to diminish the sufferings of the people by reducing taxation to the amount of that $100,000,000 surplus revenue. He proceeded to show in some detail the effect of the present Tariff law in respect to various articles of importation. He calculated the expenses of the current year at $271,000,000, and that there would be a surplus revenue of $97,867,296. Supposing the internal revenue to yield only $134,000,000, instead of the $145,000,000 which the Commissioner of Internal Revenue expected to get during the present fiscal year, he held that the ordinary expenditures of the Government should not exceed $80,000,000 a year. To that should be added $28,000,000 for pensions, and $3,400,000 for Indian expenses, and $115,000,000 for interest on the public debt, so that there should be appropriated in 1871 only $255,952,394. He had prepared two bills, one to reduce taxation, and the other to provide for the resumption of specie payments, which he would take pleasure in presenting to the House if the Committee were organized.

Mr. KELLEY suggested to Mr. BROOKS to let the bills be introduced and printed.

Mr. BROOKS said he preferred to submit them to a regularly-organized committee—the Committee of Ways and Means—as there was no possibility otherwise of having any action upon them.

Mr. KELLEY remarked that the country should have an opportunity of studying the bills.

Mr. BROOKS repeated his reply and proceeded with the argument. While giving the Secretary of the Treasury due credit for his reduction of the public debt, he reminded the House that for every dollar of revenue that reached the Treasury the tax-payers paid at least $3, so that when the debt was reduced $100,000,000 the people had paid $300,000,000 for it. The tariff and revenue laws should be revised and taxation reduced. He could point out 219 articles on which impost duties were levied from which the Government only received $250,000. All these articles should be put on the free list. Congress should also, before the adjournment of this session, abolish the duty on coal; reduce largely, if not abolish, the duty on salt, and abolish the duty on hides and leather, lumber and potatoes. Above all, Congress should take action to restore the American flag on the ocean by an utter abolition of the duty on all articles that enter into the manufacture of ships, and on ship stores, so that the gallant sailors of the United States should be educated to maintain the honor of their flag from the Arctic to the Antarctic, from the Indian Ocean to the Atlantic. It was a shame, a crime, and a disgrace, that except on the sea coast of the United States, the American flag no longer floated on the ocean, but was driven off by the flags of the weakest countries of Europe, not merely by the flags of England and France, but by the flags of Sweden and Norway and Italy and Egypt. As to the matter of internal revenue, he would accept the proposition of the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. KELLEY) in the main as voted yesterday by the House. There was no need of the income tax. It was an unnecessary imposition on the people. He would abolish all internal taxes except those on whisky, fermented liquors, tobacco and spirits. With such a reduction of impost duties and internal taxation, the country, now so oppressed, would lift itself from its burdens and float like a balloon in the air. He thought that Congress ought to do all this before it adjourned, for unless it did so at the present session the reduction of taxation could not go into effect before the 1st of January, 1873.

Mr. FINKELNBURG, of Missouri, appealed to the House to take a decided stand against the profligate extravagance of the Senate.

Mr. RANDALL, of Pennsylvania, made a like appeal, and characterized the bill as it came from the Senate as one of the most infamous bills that had ever been sent from the Senate to the House.

Mr. NIBLACK, of Indiana, also opposed the Senate amendments, and discussed the political questions in connection with the new Territorial Government for the District of Columbia, accusing the President of appointing, as members of the Council, none but members of the dominant party. He believed that the Administration was debasing its powers by using them in such a manner. The appointment of Gov. COOKE had been recognized by the whole country as an excellent one, but even Gov. COOKE had recently entered a convention of small, contemptible ward politicians, and had gone down in the dust like a worm and crawled for the purpose of ingratiating himself in their favor.

Mr. RANDALL, of Pennsylvania, suggested that Gov. COOKE had had favors enough from the Government to induce him to crawl anywhere. [Laughter.]

Mr. NIBLACK, resuming his remarks, said that everything done or attempted to be done by Congress, during the present session, had been done according to the smallest and meanest party standard ever set up in the country. In this connection, he referred to the effect of the President's special message on Southern outrages in inducing Republicans to vote for the Kuklux bill, who at first had resolved not to do so. He was facetious on the restoration of Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, to Presidential favor after hard work and long repentance. In reference to the appropriation for promoting civil service reform, he criticised severely the action of the President in forcing the resignation of Secretary COX, because he had striven to defend his clerks from political assessments, and said it was supremely ridiculous to appropriate money for this Administration, to be used for promoting civil service reform.

Mr. MAYNARD, of Tennessee, made some remarks and submitted an amendment on the subject of the claims of Southern loyalists.

General debate on the bill was then closed, and the House proceeded to vote on the amendments. The various items for the officers of the Territorial Government for the District of Columbia were agreed to, with a proviso that no person shall be entitled to draw a salary as a member of the Board of Public Works who is paid a salary for the discharge of the duties of any other office under the Government of the United States.

Mr. KENDALL, of Nevada, moved an appropriation of $15,000 for the expenses of the Commission on the Sutro Tunnel, in Nevada.

Mr. BURCHARD, of Illinois, made the point of order that the appropriation was not in pursuance of law, and the Speaker sustained the point.

Mr. SLOCUM, of New-York, moved an appropriation of $20,000 to test a sea-coast rifled gun.

A point of order being raised, the amendment was ruled out of order.

Mr. BROOKS, of New-York, opposed the Senate amendment appropriating $10,000 to repair the damages caused by fire in the cadets' barracks, at West Point, on the ground that, according to a statement in the New-York Tribune, the War Department has not obeyed the orders of the House in regard to the three cadets who were expelled by the First Class some months ago, the President characterizing the resolutions of the House as of no more authority than those of a town meeting.

The amendment was concurred in.

Without proceeding further on the bill, the House, at 4½ o'clock, adjourned.

MARSHAL'S RETURNS.

The New Practice in the United States Courts Concerning Seizures.

In all sales of property in Court the United States Marshal, by an old rule, is directed to pay in the gross proceeds of sales without deducting any expenses. This was the old, and is still the practice, except in a certain class of cases to be herein mentioned. In Government suits against property forfeited, it is almost always the case that an informer has a share. This share varies according to the amount realized by sale. Under the law it cannot exceed $5,000 in any one case. Under the law in regulations of the Treasury Department, in a certain class of cases where only a small amount is realized—$250 or less sums—the informer is entitled to half without any deduction for fees or cost, these being paid out of the United States Government's half. The statutes giving a share to the informers are found among the Internal Revenue acts and the old Judiciary act of March 2, 1799, in which it is provided "that whenever under a sale the value shall be less than $250, that part of the sale accruing to the United States, or so much as shall be necessary, shall be applied to the costs of prosecution." This statute was made when law was cheap and it did not cost the Government as much for its lawsuits as the Fee bill of February 23, 1853, provided.

In connection with these acts are the regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury under them. Under the United States Internal Revenue laws, a great number of small cases were necessarily prosecuted where the proceeds of sales varied from $100 to $200. Out of this, according to law governing such sales, the Government stamps or taxes had to be paid before the property was delivered; also, the expenses of storage, cartage, advertising sale, and other incidentals were necessarily incurred, all of which were advanced by the Marshal. In making his return to the Court he deducted these advances as necessary expenses of sale, and returned the balance as the proceeds actually realized, which was, according to the printed instructions of the Solicitor of the Treasury and Attorney-General governing such matters, which the Marshal regarded as controlling upon him, coming from his superior offices. The clerk of the United States District Court, however, declined to receive such returns, claiming them to be irregular. The Marshal insisted that that made no difference; he filed the returns as an officer of the Court, and with the advice of the law officers of the Government. The clerk, however, refused to disburse moneys received upon such returns, either for the costs and fees of the prosecution or to the informer.

This difference of opinion between the two officers of the Government last Fall gave rise to considerable "unpleasantness" between Marshal SHARPE and certain officials and lawyers of the United States District Court practicing at that Bar, and it was the subject of much discussion and comment in the Press at the time. The District-Attorney advised that the matter should be referred to Washington by the Marshal, which was done. An elaborate opinion was written by the Solicitor of Internal Revenue sustaining the Marshal, and directing him to continue in the same course. The Attorney-General specially concurred in the opinion, and advised that if the lower Courts did not agree with him that the matter be brought before the higher Courts for review. The Marshal thereupon prepared to bring the matter regularly before the Court for decision, when Mr. CHAS. E. PATTERSON moved on behalf of one of the informers, for his money in several cases, and he was paid. Before the Marshal's motion was brought on, the Clerk began the payments under order of the Court, and the actual distribution by the Clerk of the proceeds of sale, which had thus been delayed until last Fall, is resumed.

The first payment of cost under the new distribution was made last week in the following cases: United States vs. Five barrels of distilled spirits, Pier No. 31, North River, suit No. 1; The Same vs. The Same, suit No. 2; United States vs. Four barrels of distilled spirits, Pier No. 36, North River; United States vs. Five barrels of distilled spirits, steamer Stonington, (two suits;) and in each case the informer was ordered to be paid under the new distribution. The result of the present decision is that the Government does not consider the necessary expenses attending a sale as part of the costs of the prosecution under this statute.

Under the old practice, in a case involving only $19, (a case which actually occurred,) the Marshal paid into Court the net proceeds of sale, $10 30. One-half of this was set apart for the informer, which left a balance of $5 to pay the Marshal's bill, $13 68, including advertising a monition, District-Attorney's commission, about 75 cents, and clerk's fees, $32. It will be seen that by the new distribution the informer receives less money, and the Government is saved expense.

SENT TO COUNTRY HOMES.

Prisoners Sentenced by Judge Bedford.

There were eight sentences imposed by Judge BEDFORD, at the Court of General Sessions, yesterday.

JOHN WATSON and GEORGE WILLIAMS were sent to State Prison for four years and ten months each, for having broken into the cabin of the barkentine Ephraim Williams, commanded by Capt. SAMUEL L. KEEN, while the vessel was lying at one of the East River piers. They were detected rumaging in the cabin by the Captain, and one of them presented a pistol at his head and threatened to shoot him unless he kept silent. They carried off $254 worth of plunder, but were caught while in the act of escaping.

AUGUST METTLE was sent to State Prison for four years for having stabbed FREDERIC KIEL, of No. 37 Eldridge-street, in the face.

THOMAS MCKENNA and JAMES BYRNE, boys, guilty of breaking into the office of SAMUEL GRIERSON, at No. 14 Wall-street, were discharged on suspended sentence.

JOHN DELANEY, guilty of breaking into the saloon of JOHN SCHNACHENBERG, at No. 103 Cedar-street, with intent to steal, was sent to State Prison for four years and six months.

CHARLES BYRNE, who stabbed LAWRENCE MURRAY, of No. 420 East Fourth-street, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

WALTER MOFFAT was acquitted of the charge of carrying burglars' tools. JAMES WOODRUFF, indicted on the same charge, was discharged by the Court.

JOHN WATSON was sent to the Penitentiary for six months for stealing a half chest of tea from WM. BRICKNEY, of No. 9 South William-street.

DAVID MINER and HENRY ALLEN were sent to State Prison for four years and six months each for attempting to commit a burglary at the manufacturing establishment of DANIEL DOWNING, at No. 763 Eighth-avenue.

The Court then adjourned until this morning.

The Commonwealth Insurance Company.

The stockholders of the Commonwealth Insurance Company are making an effort, through a committee of their number, to thoroughly investigate the affairs of the Company, and ascertain if it is not possible to save it from dissolution. They claim that the impairment of the capital is not so great as is represented in the report of the Insurance Superintendent, and that it is still possible to save the stockholders from entire loss. They fear that if the Company is wound up by the receiver, that very little will remain for the owners of stock, and therefore make a strenuous effort to save themselves, while they may. When the time came for the confirmation of the receiver, an application was made to Judge CARDOZO for a postponement, but he refused it, though neither public nor private interests could possibly suffer by the delay. A committee has been empowered to examine the books, but it is doubtful if Receiver TWEED will permit it. He expresses the intention of preventing any steps being taken until after the referee shall have taken an inventory of all the assets of the Company and turned them over to him. He claims that by the proceedings before Judge CARDOZO the Company is wiped out of existence, and that the stockholders have nothing to do with it. The order of the Court, issued on April 6, is in the following language:

The order heretofore granted by this Court, requiring the said Company to show cause why the business of said Company should not be closed, having come on to be heard, and after filing the same, and hearing S. H. HAMMOND, Deputy Attorney-General, in behalf of the People of the State of New-York, and JOHN FOWLER, Jr., for said Company, it is ordered and decreed that the said The Commonwealth Fire Insurance Company, located in the City of New-York be and the same is hereby dissolved. And it is hereby further ordered, that the said "The Commonwealth Fire Insurance Company," and all its officers, directors, agents, and employes, of every name and nature whatsoever, be and they are hereby absolutely and perpetually enjoined and restrained from exercising any of the corporate powers or franchises of said Company, and from receiving, collecting, or disposing of any moneys, property, or effects owing or held by it, except to the receiver hereinafter named. And it is further ordered, that WILLIAM M. TWEED, Jr., of New-York, on filing a bond with the Clerk of this Court, and approved by a Justice thereof, in the penalty of $50,000, with one or more sureties, be and he is hereby declared and appointed receiver of said corporation, with all the powers of receivers, in closing up the affairs of said corporation, and making final settlement of the same, which are possessed by receivers in such cases, under and by virtue of the laws of this State, and the rules and practice of this Court.

The costs already incurred have been considerable, and those which will yet accrue will make a large breach in whatever of assets may be found. If the stockholders cannot obtain access to the books and have no facilities by which their investigation may be pursued, they will be inclined to abandon the attempt to reorganize the Company, which will, perhaps, be just what is desired by interested parties.

THE BAR ASSOCIATION.

Amendments to the Constitution—Entertaining the Commissioners of Appeals—Complaints of Illegal Exactions by Public Officers.

The regular meeting of the New-York Bar Association was held, last evening, at the club-rooms, Hon. WM. M. EVARTS, President, in the chair. The Treasurer's report was presented, after which Hon. JAMES EMOTT, of the Library Committee, made a report showing the extent of the subscriptions to the fund and the donations to the library.

The following gentlemen were reported as having been duly elected: William Ritchie Ronalds, Charles M. Marsh, William Van Wyck, Charles E. Patterson, Francis M. Scott, John O. Sargent, George William Wright, and Joel B. Erhardt.

New amendments to articles 3 and 9 of the Constitution were taken up, and that portion relating to the eligibility of members of the profession of the State neither residing nor practicing in the City, permitting them to become members of the association, having all the privileges of the same, except that of voting. This was carried by a vote of 105 to 4. The amendment to article 9, relating to fixing the annual dues of resident and non-resident members, was then considered and carried unanimously.

An amendment to the by-laws, providing for a Standing Committee on Legal Education, consisting of ten members, who shall be charged with the duty of examining and reporting what changes it is expedient to propose in the system of legal education, and of admission to the practice of the profession in the State of New-York, was adopted unanimously.

The President, Hon. WILLIAM M. EVARTS, read the reply he had made to the Medico Legal Society, accepting their co-operation with the objects of the Association.

A resolution was adopted tendering the free use of the library of the Association, and also one or more of its committee-rooms, for the purpose of consultation, to the Commission of Appeals during the session about to be held by the latter in this City. Mr. SEWELL moved that the Commissioners of Appeals be invited to meet the members of the Association at a banquet during their stay in the City. The matter was referred to the Executive Committee with power.

Mr. GLASSEY called attention to the abuses in the way of swindles in the Sheriff's, County Clerk's, Register's and other offices, and thought that something ought to be done to remedy the evils. He offered a resolution requesting the Executive Committee to report what measures, if any, can be adopted to protect the members of the Bar and their clients from the illegal extortions of public officers. Mr. BARRETT claimed that the law provided a remedy for these wrongs, and that the exactions of public officers could be corrected by counsel; it was a matter with which the Association had nothing to do, and he therefore moved to lay the resolution on the table. Mr. GLASSEY said that the object of the Association was to band members of the Bar together for the purpose of doing, as an organization, what individual members could not. For that reason he urged that the Association should take action in the premises. Mr. OLMSTEAD, after stating that the grievance was one demanding some action on the part of the Association, moved that the subject be referred to a special committee of five members, to be appointed by the Chair. The amendment was accepted and the resolution was carried.

It was moved that when the Association adjourn it be until the second Tuesday in May. The meeting then adjourned.

Reception of the Seventy-First Regiment.

The Seventy-first Regiment reception came off, last evening, at the Academy of Music, and despite the uninviting condition of the weather, was one of the most successful and enjoyable affairs that have occurred this entire season. The whole regiment turned out in full uniform, with their friends and lady companions. The other militia regiments were well represented, and at midnight the ball-room was taxed to its utmost capacity to contain the immense crowds to whom cards of invitation had been extended. The decorations and general surroundings of the hall were quite in keeping with the character of the attendance, and the walls and ceilings were brilliantly hung with banners and flags, bearing national and local devices. Col. ROCKAFELLOW and Major EUNSON, assisted by an efficient Floor Committee, were very successful in their endeavors to make the ball thoroughly satisfactory. With good music, comfort to the inner man, and general hilarity and good feeling prevailing, the amusement was kept up to an advanced hour this morning.

The Assembly adopted a resolution expressing regret that it was not enabled to assist at the funerals of the Generals killed by the insurgents.

THE WEATHER.

Latest Report of the Official Observations.

WAR DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, WASHINGTON, April 12—1½ A. M.—The slow barometer which was, Monday night, in Indiana, has moved eastward and northward, and is now on the East Atlantic coast. Light rains have fallen on the lower lakes and East Atlantic, with brisk south-west winds on the lakes and Middle Atlantic. Cloudy weather, with light rains, prevailed for a short time on the Gulf and South Atlantic, where it is now clearing away, with rising barometer. Brisk and high south-west winds are now reported from the Middle States and Lake Ontario. Clear weather, with fresh south-west winds, prevail on the westward of this region, and light winds in the Mississippi Valley. The weather remains unchanged in the Rocky Mountains and on the Pacific Coast.

PROBABILITIES.

It is probable that clear weather and rising barometer will prevail from the middle States westward, with partially cloudy weather and westerly winds on the Lakes. Cloudy and clearing up weather, with brisk westerly winds, in Eastern States.

THE CAREY HOMICIDE CASE.

The Coroner's Inquest Ended Without Finding the Murderer—What the Police Officers Knew About the Case—The Prisoners Discharged.

Coroner SCHIRMER, in the absence of Coroner KEENAN, yesterday, continued the inquest into the cause of the death of JOHN CAREY, who died a few days ago at his residence in Washington-street from injuries received during a fight in Bethune-street, on the evening of St. Patrick's Day.

Officer KERSHAW, of the Ninth Precinct Police, testified that on the evening of March 17 he was on post in Washington-street, when he was informed that a fight was going on in Bethune-street; he went there, and as soon as he appeared the crowd scattered; CAREY seemed to be the only one who had been fighting, as he presented marks of violence, and, looking upon the affray as a St. Patrick's brawl, he (the officer) took CAREY to the corner of the street and asked him about the trouble and its cause; CAREY said he and McGOVERN had had some words in a liquor store, and he was getting the best of the fight, having McGOVERN down in the gutter, when some one kicked him or hit him with brass knuckles, he could not tell exactly which; he, however, did not want any one arrested, as he would get even some other time; about ten minutes after, KERSHAW saw CAREY at his own door, and told him he had better go up-stairs and wash the blood from his face, which advice he followed; a few days after KERSHAW again saw CAREY, who said he was getting along very well, and would be all right in a few days, as he was going to see a doctor; the Officer saw McGOVERN and COLLINS near where he found CAREY on March 17, but did not see a blow struck.

Several other witnesses were called, but they knew nothing of the affray, except by hearsay.

Capt. WASHBURNE, of the Ninth Precinct, testified that on March 29 he was informed by Mrs. CAREY that her husband was in a dangerous condition from the effects of a beating received at the hands of McGOVERN, SHAUGHNESSY, COLLINS and BRODERICK; he at once dispatched four officers in citizen's clothes to arrest those men, and they arrested COLLINS that evening; McGOVERN gave himself up the next day; Dr. JOHN BEACH was sent for to examine CAREY's condition, and although he expressed an opinion that CAREY would die, he did not then think it necessary to take his deposition, which was subsequently taken by Coroner KEENAN; the Captain was of opinion that if BRODERICK could be found he might be able to tell more about the affair.

CAREY's ante-mortem deposition was read, but did not implicate any particular person.

Dr. WOOSTER BEACH gave as his opinion from the post-mortem examination, that death resulted from violence received doubtless during the affray.

There being no further evidence the jury returned a verdict that death resulted from violence at the hands of persons unknown. The prisoners COLLINS and McGOVERN were therefore discharged from custody.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

JUST ISSUED:
A HISTORY OF THE
COMMON SCHOOL SYSTEM
OF THE
STATE OF NEW-YORK,
By S. S. RANDALL,
Late Superintendent of Education of the City of New-York.

One large octavo volume, 500 pages. Elegantly printed and substantially bound, and illustrated with six full-page Engravings of the New-York State Normal Schools. Price $5.

In this work Mr. Randall has traced with skill and force, and with an enthusiasm that lights up every page, the History of the Common School System of the State of New-York, from its origin in 1795 to its present vast proportions and extended scope. He includes the various City and other special organizations, and the Religious Controversies of 1821, 1832 and 1840, and in the concluding section reviews some of the leading principles of a sound educational system, and gives many practical suggestions, such as his long experience and observation make valuable.

Single copies will be forwarded by mail on receipt of the price.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The attendance at the Exchange, yesterday, (April 11), was large, but the result of the day's business was not as successful as was expected. From the character of the real estate billed for sale, business should have been active, but for some unexplained cause bidding was slow, and the auctioneers were obliged to withdraw the greater portion of the property offered, preferring to take this course rather than to dispose of it at a sacrifice. It is a singular fact, but nevertheless true, that improved City property does not command the same ready sale as unimproved lots, and bargains in this class of realty are much more frequently obtained at the Exchange, than where lots only are offered and sold at speculative figures. Most of the real estate presented yesterday embraced houses as well as lots, and the result, as we have stated, was far from satisfactory to the projectors of the sales. Some transactions were effected, however, and the following is a brief review of the day's business, the bids made on property not sold being also reported. In the recapitulation appended only bona fide sales are noted:

ROBERTS & MCGUIRE, by order of the Supreme Court in foreclosure, under the direction of GRATZ NATHAN, Esq., referee, disposed of three three-story and basement high-stoop brick houses and lots, known as Nos. 406, 408 and 410 East Fifty-seventh-street, south side, between First-avenue and Avenue A, lots each 17.10 by about 100; sold respectively Nos. 406 and 408 to BERNARD MEIYER for $12,150 and $12,000, and No. 410 to TOWNSEND & GOLDSMITH for $12,850. Also, under the direction of the same referee, by order of the Supreme Court, lease of four-story brick house and lot on the east side of West-street, near Barclay, sold for $16,200 to CHAS. S. BARNHARD, lease twenty-one years from 1855, ground rent $1,000 per year; present rent of store, $1,800 per annum; amount of mortgages foreclosed, $14,000. The legal sale of the house and lot No. 158 East Sixty-fifth-street was adjourned until Tuesday next, and the Sheriff's sale of the premises No. 33 Ridge-street indefinitely. In regard to the legal sale of Twenty-fourth-street property no mention was made.

E. H. LUDLOW & CO., at public auction, sold the four-story and basement brick house and lot, No. 48 West Twentieth-street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, to M. M. STANFIELD, for $34,750, a fair price, and at an executor's sale, by order of the executor of MARIA HART, deceased, the three-story English basement house and lot, No. 345 West Thirty-first-street, west side, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, sold to H. A. HURLBURT for $10,550, not an unreasonable figure.

MULLER, WILKINS & CO., at public auction, disposed of the premises known as No. 106 Amity-street, south side, between Sullivan and Macdougal, embracing a two and a half story brick house and lot, the latter being 21.11 by about 116 feet in size; purchaser, F. M. PEYSER; price paid, $13,700. The same firm also offered the following property, which was, however, only nominally sold, at the figures annexed, to the parties named: Premises No. 49 Bleecker-street, north side, near Broadway, three-story brick house and lot, the latter 39 by about 96, L. G. LEWIS, $35,000; premises No. 128 First-avenue, east side, between Seventh and Eighth streets, five-story brick house and lot, the latter 25.10 by 65, M. FRIEND, $19,500; two lots, each 25 by 100.5, south side of Fifty-third-street, 200 feet east of Fifth-avenue, E. A. BOYD, $17,000 each—bona fide bids to the amount of $16,800 per lot were received; two-story frame house and plot of ground, south side of Ninth-street, Brooklyn, 60 feet east of Fourth-avenue, plot 40 by 112.6, J. H. BAKER, $8,900, and one lot in rear, 20 by 80, north side of Tenth-street, same nominal buyer, $1,000; a similar lot adjoining was not put up.

M. SEAMAN, by order of the Supreme Court in foreclosure, under the direction of THOS. H. LANDON, Esq., referee, sold one lot 21 feet 8 inches front by half the block in depth, situate on the south side of Seventy-seventh-street, 117 feet, between First and Second avenues, to C. HART for $2,550.

JOHNSON & MILLER, at public auction, sold five lots on the north side of Heyward-street, Brooklyn, between Wythe and Bedford avenues, each 20 by 100, to S. L. KEENEY for $435 each. The same firm also offered four lots, each 25 by 100, located on the south side of Sixth-street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues. They were not sold, although struck off to DANL. HYLAND at $300 each.

A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO. offered for sale a large line of valuable City property, but without effecting sales. The property was nominally purchased as follows: Premises No. 231 East Sixtieth-street, north side, between Second and Third avenues, three-story French roof brown-stone house and lot, the latter 20 by 100 5, by D. H. LINDON, for $21,000. Premises No. 115 East Fifty-ninth-street, north side, between Fourth and Lexington avenues, five-story and basement brown-stone house and lot, the latter 20 by 100.5, by WM. PINNELL, for $19,000; and the premises No. 246 East Sixtieth-street, south side, 140 feet west Second-avenue, four-story and basement, brown-stone house and lot, latter 20 by half block, by HERMAN KINN, for $25,700; No. 244 East Sixtieth-street, adjoining above, a similar house and lot was offered at an upset price of $26,500, but no bids were received. The sale of the three-story and basement brown-stone house and lot No. 127 West Twenty-sixth-street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues was postponed until Tuesday next.

JAMES A. FLEURY offered at public auction, to close the Ebling estate, nine lots of ground, with water rights appertaining thereto, fronting on the Harlem River, on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-first-street, 248 feet east of Avenue A. In this case also no sales were effected, although the lots were struck off in three parcels to J. DURYEA for the sum, in the aggregate of $34,700. No further business was transacted.

On the premises, yesterday, at an assignee's sale, by order of the United States Court, ALBERT H. NICOLAY sold the lease of the Brewery, malt-house and six lots of ground known as Nos. 315, 317, 319, 321, 323 and 325 East Eleventh-street, (WM. E. BROCKWAY's old stand,) for $12,100 cash.

For today sales of City property are advertised to take place at the Exchange, by MULLER, WILKINS & CO., A. J. BLEECKER, SON & CO., JAMES M. MILLER, and V. K. STEVENSON & SON. The latter firm will dispose of the property known as No. 11 Mitchell-place, (East Forty-ninth-street.) Also, a residence on East Seventy-eighth-street, known as No. 273. All the auctions proposed embrace the disposition of desirable realty.

Exchange Sales, Thursday, April 11.

The right will be reserved to reject any or all proposals, if such a course should be deemed for the interests of the Government.

All articles furnished under contract will be required to be delivered, packed, and marked for shipment, according to directions which will be given, at a warehouse to be designated in the respective cities where the goods are received, and will be subject to inspection by the Board of Indian Commissioners appointed by the President, and such goods or articles as may in any respect fail to conform to the samples will be rejected, and in that case the contractor will be bound to furnish others of the required kind or quality within five days; or, if that be not done, they will be purchased at his expense.

No bids will be considered from persons who have failed to comply with the requirements of a former contract.

Payment will be made for the goods purchased on the presentation of the invoices thereof at this office, after they shall have been properly approved.

No proposal will be considered that does not strictly comply with the following form:

"I (or we) hereby propose to furnish the Indian Department, according to the terms of the advertisement of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, dated March 23, 1871, the following articles, at the prices thereto affixed. (Here insert the list of articles proposed to be furnished.) Said articles are to be delivered in, (here insert the proposed place of delivery,) by the, (insert date.) And if this proposal be accepted, I (or we) will, within ten days after being notified, execute a contract accordingly, and give security to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs for the faithful performance of the same."

Each proposal must be accompanied by a guarantee in the following form, to be signed by two responsible persons, whose sufficiency must be certified by a United States Judge or District-Attorney:

"We hereby jointly and severally guarantee that the above bidder, (or bidders,) if a contract shall be awarded to him (or them) according to his (or their) bid or proposal, will execute a contract accordingly, and give the requisite security for the faithful performance of the same, as prescribed in the advertisement for Proposals for Indian Goods, dated March 23, 1871, and in the event of his (or their) failure so to do, we hereby agree and bind ourselves, our heirs, executors and administrators, to forfeit and pay to the United States, as damages, a sum not less than fifteen per cent. on the amount of said bid or proposal."

Bonds will be required in the amount of the bid for the faithful performance of the contract, with two or more sureties, whose sufficiency must be certified to by a United States Judge or District-Attorney.

E. S. PARKER, Commissioner.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, OFFICE OF INDIAN AFFAIRS, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30, 1871.

NOTE.—The place for receiving bids and samples under the above advertisement has been changed from Washington, D. C., to No. 103 Duane-st., New-York City, which place will be open for business on and after April 15.

The bids will be opened in the presence of the Board of Indian Commissioners and a committee to be designated by the Secretary of the Interior, as soon as the time for receiving the same shall have expired, and the contracts will be awarded as soon thereafter as practicable.

The beef cattle must be good, merchantable cattle, all steers, from three to seven years old, in good, healthy condition, and averaging at least one thousand pounds each, live weight, the weight to be determined by weighing on scales when practicable. Their delivery must commence at each of the points named on the 1st day of July, 1871, at which time about one-fourth of the whole quantity will be delivered, the balance to be delivered in equal quantities on the 15th day of July and the 1st and 15th of August, 1871.

That there may be no failure on the part of the contractor, he will be required to keep the beef cattle in the vicinity of the agency, to be delivered when required; and should it be ascertained that he is not collecting cattle in the vicinity fast enough, or should he fail to deliver them as required, the undersigned will purchase, or cause to be purchased, beef cattle as he may elect, at the expense of said contractor.

All the articles, except Beef, must be delivered at the several agencies between the 1st and 15th day of July, 1871.

The bacon must be sound and sweet, and put up in gunnies.

The flour to be fresh ground, of XX quality, to be made wholly from good sound wheat, and to be delivered in good strong double sacks.

The coffee to be delivered in double sacks. The sugar to be delivered in barrels, full head-lined.

Proposals will be received for the delivery of any one or all of the above-named articles at any one or all of said agencies.

The undersigned reserves the right to increase or diminish the quantity of each or any of the articles which the bidder or bidders propose to furnish.

Bids for beef cattle will state price per pound, gross. Parties bidding for the other articles will state price per pound, net, and furnish a sample of each article bid for except the bacon and salt. The prices must be given without modification, or any proposed modification whatever.

All articles furnished by contract made under this advertisement will be subject to inspection, and such articles as may in any respect fail to conform to the requirements of contract and the sample will be rejected, and in that case the contractor or contractors will be bound to furnish others of the required kind or quality without delay, or if that be not done they will be purchased at his or their expense.

Payments will be made at this office on proper receipts from the agents to whom the supplies are delivered, after the accounts therefor shall have been properly approved.

Each copy of each proposal must have a copy of this advertisement (a slip from a newspaper) pasted at its head.

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals if such a course should be deemed for the interest of the Government.

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by a written guarantee of two responsible parties (not bidders) to the effect that if the bid is accepted, the bidder or bidders will immediately enter into a written contract in accordance therewith.

Bonds will be required in the amount of the bid for the faithful performance of the contract with two or more sureties, whose sufficiency must be certified to by a United States Judge or District-Attorney.

Each bidder must designate his place of business, where communications sent to him will be received, the same to be entered in his contract, should one be awarded him.

Proposals should be inclosed in an envelope, addressed to the undersigned, and indorsed "Proposals for Supplies for Indians."

Bidders are invited to be present at the opening of the bids.

E. S. PARKER,
Commissioner.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, OFFICE OF INDIAN AFFAIRS, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30, 1871.

NOTE.—The place for receiving bids and samples under the above advertisement has been changed from Washington, D. C., to No. 103 Duane-st., New-York City, which place will be open for business on and after April 15.

E. S. PARKER, Commissioner.

UNITED STATES POST-OFFICE AND SUB-TREASURY, BOSTON, MASS., OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT, March 20, 1871.

WROUGHT AND CAST IRON WORK.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Superintendent, until 12 M., April 20, 1871, for furnishing, delivering, fitting, and putting in place, the iron-work of the third and fourth floors and roof of the new Post-office and Treasury building in Boston, Mass., as exhibited by drawings marked 41, 42, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, and the accompanying plans and schedule, consisting principally of rolled wrought-iron beams and girders.

The work to be delivered and put in place at such times as may, from time to time, be required by the Superintendent, provided that each floor and the roof shall be made the subject of a separate order, and that the contractor shall be allowed thirty days for the making and putting in place of each floor, and ninety days for making and putting in place the roof.

The contractors will be permitted the use of the derricks and machinery belonging to the building in putting the work in place, without charge, but will be required to pay the time of the men employed in working them, who will be furnished by the Department when required.

Scaffolding will be furnished by the contractors.

The work will not be subdivided among the different bidders, but will be considered and awarded in the aggregate.

Ninety per cent. of the amount due will be paid on the completion of each floor, the balance on the final completion of the contract.

All bids must be accompanied by a penal bond in the sum of twenty thousand dollars, that the bidder will accept and perform the contract if awarded him, the sufficiency of the security to be certified by the United States Judge, Clerk of the United States Court, or District-Attorney, of the District where he resides.

The Department reserves the right to reject any or all bids, if it be deemed to the interest of the Government to do so, and any bid that is not made on the printed form to be obtained in this office, and does not conform in every respect to the requirements of this advertisement, and of the printed form and schedule, will not be considered, neither will any proposals be received from parties who are not themselves engaged in the manufacture of cast or wrought iron work, and who have not the necessary facilities for getting out the castings or rolled beams.

Proposals must be indorsed "Bids for Iron-work, Post-office and Sub-Treasury, Boston, Mass.," and addressed to Gridley J. F. Bryant, Superintendent.

PROPOSALS.

OLCOTT HARBOR, N. Y.

UNITED STATES ENGINEER OFFICE, OSWEGO, N. Y., April 12, 1871.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 12 M., May 12, 1871, for furnishing Labor and Stone for the United States building, (300) three hundred lineal feet, more or less, of pier in the harbor of Olcott, N. Y., as follows:

CLASS I.—LABOR.

For counterhewing (300) three hundred sticks, more or less, of white pine timber, to be bid for at so much per lineal foot of timber.

For the labor, framing, jointing, bolting, spiking, driving tree-nails and sinking cribs; and framing, jointing, bolting, spiking and completing superstructure, and putting in snubbing-posts on (300) three hundred lineal feet, more or less, of pier; to be bid for at so much per thousand feet, b. m., of timber used in construction and completing pier; so much per pound for the iron driven, and so much per hundred for the tree-nails used; these prices include the cost of receiving materials furnished by the United States, providing all machinery, tools and appliances that may be required, doing all labor and completing the pier in a workmanlike manner. Work to commence on or before June 10, 1871, and be completed by Sept. 15, 1871.

CLASS II.—STONE.

For receiving from the United States and delivering in the cribs (150) one hundred and fifty cords, more or less, of stone; the stone is now piled on the east pier and near the bridge, in a position convenient to place on scows; to be bid for at so much per cord, received as it stands and delivered, including all handling whatever.

For (325) three hundred and twenty-five cords, more or less, of stone delivered in the cribs; to be of proper size for purpose, and to be furnished at such times and in such quantities as the engineer in charge may require; delivery to commence about July 1, 1871; to be bid for at so much per cord, delivered in the cribs.

Bids will be received for the whole work only of Labor and furnishing Stone, but must be made by class, specifying as above; the contract will be awarded to the party whose bids in the aggregate will be lowest for the whole Labor and Stone for (300) three hundred feet of pier.

Plans and specifications, models and charts will be shown on application to this office, where all possible information will be given. Proposals must be indorsed "Olcott."

Forms, contracts and bonds as usual.

The United States reserves the right to reject all bids deemed disadvantageous.

JOHN M. WILSON,
Major of Engineers, U. S. A.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NEW-YORK.

A public meeting will be held on Friday, April 14, at 8 P. M., at the Wilson Mission House, corner Avenue A and Eighth-street. Addresses by Rev. JOHN HALL, D. D., Rev. ROBERT R. BOOTH, D. D., and Rev. STEPHEN H. TYNG, Jr. The recitations of the children begin at 2 P. M. All persons interested are invited.

The McCahill will case did not progress, yesterday, as expected before Surrogate HUTCHINGS, but owing to professional engagements of one of the counsel engaged, was adjourned until Tuesday next. The case will without doubt be a protracted one.

A grand soirée in connection with the Canal-street Presbyterian Church was held at the Church by the congregation last evening. The platform was tastefully decorated with flowers and banners in a manner that reflected great credit upon the ladies of the congregation. Rev. DAVID CLITCHELL, pastor of the Church, was in the chair, and made the opening address. Addresses were afterward delivered by Revs. John Hall, George Mingins, E. P. Rogers, John Thomson and William E. Dodge, Esq., all of whom advocated social meetings as a means of strengthening natural ties, of increasing the power of the pastor over his flock and for bringing strong Christian workers together for the holiest purpose—that of reclaiming souls. During the intervals between the addresses, refreshments were handed round by the fair portion of the congregation. Several good Scotch songs were also sung by members of the Church and their friends. Prof. H. G. ABBEY presided at the organ.

PATRICK FARRELL keeps a liquor-store at the corner of Water and Roosevelt streets, which saloon is the resort of several rough characters. Early yesterday morning MICHAEL, alias "Butch" HALEY, went into the store and challenged FARRELL to fight. The latter said he would prefer to wait until daylight. Yesterday afternoon HALEY went into FARRELL's store, evidently with the intent of creating a disturbance. FARRELL no sooner saw HALEY come in than he took a revolver and fired at him, without, however, hitting him. HALEY therefore caused FARRELL's arrest, and he was held at the Tombs for trial, on the charge of felonious assault.

There was a full representation of the stockholders of the Harlem Road at a meeting at the office of the Company at noon yesterday. The affairs and highly encouraging prospects of the road on the approaching completion of its great station property in Fourth-avenue and Forty-second-street, were discussed, and the means voted for completing this important improvement, in the shape of an increase of capital of $2,000,000, any part of which is placed in the discretion of Mr. VANDERBILT, to be disposed of as the needs of the Company may require.

The overloading of the street-cars on Monday night was dreadful. On the Broadway and Seventh-avenue and the Tenth-avenue lines not only were the inside of the cars and the platform crammed, but the tops were covered, and men were actually clinging to the windows with their legs dangling outside. One car on the Fourth-avenue started up-town from Union-square with 139 human beings on board. To this load only two poor-looking horses were attached, and as they moved along every muscle of their bodies was strained, and it was dreadful to witness their panting exertions to pull the inhuman freight along.

THOMAS KING, of No. 113 Greene-street, and JOHN BURNS, of Thompson-street, were yesterday standing in front of the residence of the former, when two strange men who were passing made an unprovoked attack upon them, stabbing BURNS in the head twice, and KING once in the shoulder. None of the wounds, however, are serious. The assailants fled after committing the outrage, and have not been arrested.

PHILIP RILEY, who lives at No. 182 Mulberry-street, attempted to commit suicide yesterday morning at his residence by shooting himself with a pistol, but did not succeed in destroying life. The wound is, however, a very serious one, as the bullet remains in the neck, and RILEY, who was taken to Bellevue Hospital, is considered to be in a very critical condition.

Duane Lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars, gives a "calico hop," this evening, at Thompson's Dancing Academy, on Bleecker-street, opposite Morton. Messrs. A. T. MCCORMACK and M. DORAN, and Mrs. A. A. MARSHALL are the Committee of Arrangements, and a very pleasant time is promised.

A stated meeting of the Medico-Legal Society will be held at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, corner of Fourth-avenue and Twenty-third-street, to-morrow evening, at 8 o'clock. The paper of the evening, on "The Rights, Sphere and Obligations of Medical Experts," will be read by J. J. O'DEA, M. D.

CARRINGTON L. WESTBROOK was caught by HENRY LUX, of No. 743 Broadway, in the act of stealing his wallet, containing $72, while getting on a Third-avenue car, on Monday, at the corner of Frankfort-street. WESTBROOK was yesterday committed for trial by Justice DOWLING at the Tombs.

A notice has been issued warning patrons of the Southern Express Company and the public against paying any attention to lithographed or other letters sent from New-York or elsewhere, inducing orders for counterfeit money to be sent by express C. O. D.

DENNIS CASSIDY committed suicide yesterday by cutting his throat with a razor, at No. 195 Stanton-street, while depressed in spirits. He was sixty-five years of age. Coroner HERRMAN has charge of the case.

HENRY VOGEL, who cut his throat and then leaped from the fourth story of No. 38 Grand-street, while insane, on Saturday, died yesterday in Bellevue Hospital.

ALOIS VON HOMACH, aged forty-five, of No. 88 Delancey-street, died yesterday in the German Hospital, from injuries received on April 2, from the explosion of a kerosene lamp suspended from the ceiling in his parlor.

BROOKLYN.

By the annual report of the "City Mission and Tract Society," it appears that during the past year there were twenty-one missionaries employed by the organization and that the number of tracts distributed was 1,610,432; number of Child's Paper distributed, 19,200; number of Bibles and Testaments distributed, 1,021; number of children gathered in Sabbath-schools, [illegible] persons, 147; number of persons induced to attend church, 1,321; number of signatures procured to temperance pledges, 335; number of family visits made by missionaries, [illegible]; number of funeral services held, 136; number of visits to public institutions, [illegible]; number of public services at Mission and other stations, [illegible]; number of backsliders reclaimed, 35; number of [illegible].

Ex-Assemblyman RICHARD VAN WYCK [illegible], aged ninety-four years, died yesterday morning at his residence, corner of Adams and Sands streets. He has been for the last half century ranked among Brooklyn's most eminent citizens. He was until the time of his death one of the directors of the Long Island Bank.

The brig Eva N. Johnson, from Matanzas, was discovered yesterday morning to have passed Quarantine with a small-pox patient on board. Dr. COCHRAN had the sufferer removed and the vessel cut off from communication with the shore.

JOHN AGRIKOLE, a boy aged fourteen years, was committed to the House of Refuge yesterday by Justice EAMES, for throwing stones at a train on the Long Island Railroad. One of the missiles passed through the window of one of the cars, and barely escaped striking a lady on the head.

At the Eclectic Dispensary, No. 232 Myrtle-avenue, there were 1,008 patients treated and 2,[illegible] prescriptions filled during the past month. Of the patients treated 625 were natives and the remainder foreigners.

The Water Board has determined to pave [illegible]-street, E. D., with Miller Wood Pavement. Proposals for the work are advertised for.

NEW-JERSEY.

The second annual reunion of the officers of the Thirty-fourth Regiment, New-Jersey Volunteers, was held at the National Hotel, Trenton, on Monday. The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Col. T. C. Moore; Secretary, Lieut. Edward May; Treasurer, Major H. V. Reed; Executive Committee, Major Reed, Lieut. Hugg, Capt. Seaman, Capt. Stanley, and Lieut. May. The customary dinner was partaken of and the evening spent in the enjoyment of social pleasantries.

In the Essex County Court, at Newark, yesterday, SEBASTIAN ANGLEHART, alias Charles Carr, convicted of bigamy on his own confession, was sentenced to the State Prison for two years. CHAS. BROWN pleaded guilty of stealing watches, and was sent for two years to the State Prison.

The Woman's Home Mission Society, of Newark, have elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Dr. CRANE; Vice-President, Miss VAN HORN; Treasurer, Mrs. GEO. DAVIS; Secretary, Mrs. B. WEED.

Officer DALY, of the Jersey City Police force, was arrested yesterday and bailed for trial on a charge of assaulting OTIS SCHAFFER at a place of public amusement, by pushing him into the street, because he could not get a seat when the officer ordered him to sit down.

PATRICK GREAVES, a resident of the Jersey City Heights, was drowned late on Monday night, falling off a lighter at the foot of North Fifth-street. Deceased leaves a wife and five children. Coroner BURNS took charge of the remains.

A cottage is being built on Ocean-avenue, at Long Branch, which it is proposed to present to Bishop SIMPSON, who has spent the last two or three Summers there. The proposition was started at the close of last season. The lot was given by THOS. COOPER, and the first subscription of $100 was given by President GRANT, who is a warm friend of the Bishop.

The Morris and Orange Presbytery met in the Presbyterian Church, East Orange, yesterday. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. J. S. EVANS.
